Chapter 1. INTRODUCTION

This free E-book has been written in order to shed light on a case of extraterrestrial contacts with a citizen of Switzerland by the name of Eduard Albert Meier, also known as Billy Meier. This involves the most significant and longest lasting UFO case in history. The sheer volume and quality of the evidence presented in this case is staggering, not to mention the ramifications that this case means to humanity. This E-book attempts to make sense of it all.

What this case involves are hundreds of contacts that Billy Meier claims to have had with intelligent extraterrestrial beings from the Pleiades star cluster in the Taurus Constellation approximately 500 light years from Earth. It also includes what other people have written about these contacts and how they interrelate. A large amount of information has been presented that casts doubt, as well as reinforces, the credibility of this case. The purpose behind this E-book is to help humanity to understand what they should accept and reject regarding all of Meier's information.

If an opinion about Meier's information were to be established solely on what Derek Bartholomaus has presented in his website at: BillyMeierUFOCase.com, then it could be concluded that all of what Billy Meier presented should be rejected. However, if an opinion about Meier's information were to be established solely on what Michael Horn presents in his website at: TheyFly.com, then it could be concluded that all of what Billy Meier has presented should be accepted. Unfortunately, the actual situation is much more complicated than that.

Another well-respected source regarding Meier's information is Jim Deardorff, Research Professor Emeritus from Oregon State University. In his research document titled, "Plausible Deniability", he presented the following statement regarding an alternative motive for the way in which information about alien contacts is released to the general public:

"A possible alien goal closely related to this is to discourage us from accepting their every word or action as truthful or non-deceptive. This will tend to cause those who recognize the reality of the alien presence to continue to think logically and scientifically for themselves, and not lapse into an unhealthy dependence upon the aliens for information. Instead, every alien communication and apparent action will need to receive close scrutiny as to its veracity."

While this conclusion certainly has merit, Dr. Deardorff also applies this hypothesis in regards to deceptive, untruthful, and incredulous information presented to Billy Meier by his extraterrestrial contacts from the Pleiades. His document continues by stating that the beings from the Pleiades, known as Pleiadians/Plejaran, must have had to abide by an overall alien strategy of covertness even while setting Meier up with unique photo opportunities and contacts that would serve to attract attention to him, his experiences, and his writings. They would have had to ensure that doing this would not prematurely rupture the UFO cover-up.

This appears to have been accomplished by the aliens providing Meier with false evidence, along with truthful information, that would prevent a rupturing of the UFO cover-up and to enable skeptics to maintain Meier in a debunked state. However, the sheer amount of authentic evidence that has been presented does not substantiate this hypothesis. There is no need to continue to supply false information for nearly forty years in order to teach humanity to be more critical of alien contacts.

At this point, it is important to understand that this E-book has been prepared by Maurice Osborn with nothing to gain and only a desire to share information that he has acquired over many years of research into the Meier case. He is the author of the paperback and free E-book versions of "The Essence of the Notes", which summarizes the first 76 contact notes that were written by Eduard Meier. He is also close friends with Billy Meier's son, Methusalem Meier, whom he considers to be very intelligent, reliable, and reputable. The following photograph is of Methusalem (on the left), his girlfriend Melanie, and Maurice Osborn.

It is the opinion of this author that there is another, far more believable, explanation for all of the false information that has been presented to humanity. It is based upon a conclusion that has been reached by Billy Meier's youngest son, Methusalem Meier, from his own personal experiences. It is his belief that the Pleiadians ended all contacts with his father when he had a nervous breakdown in the 1980s. (See Chapter 8)

There is actually a lot of evidence to support this opinion. Although Billy Meier has been found to be guilty of introducing false evidence prior to the 1980s, such as double exposure photographs of UFOs along with other people at a different time, all information provided from 1983 and onwards simply appears to be Billy Meier's own personal opinions and beliefs, which he attributes as being derived from conversations with the Pleiadians.

If Billy Meier had confessed to no longer having contacts with the Pleiadians in 1983, then he would have ceased to receive any more notoriety of being considered as an alien contactee. Far more difficult for Mr. Meier to deal with would have been the loss of his financial support from the members of his FIGU organization, which enable him to remain isolated from the public within the confines of his "Semjase Silver Star Center". He might have actually had to go to work again in the public sector in order to earn a wage to support himself. So, there were significant reasons to withhold any information that might lead people to believe that he no longer had any contact with the Pleiadians.

However, the most revealing evidence that exists regarding the reason for Meier's loss of contact with aliens actually comes from the contact notes that he transcribed. These reports, as presented in Chapter 7.1, describe how Billy Meier failed his mission to act as a prophet for mankind on Earth. This was something that the Pleiadians found to be unacceptable. Even though the aliens helped him in every way that they could, Meier was only able to provide a single lecture in Munich, Germany, which he was unable to perform satisfactorily. He has remained isolated from the public ever since then.

It appears obvious that when Billy Meier failed to fulfill his mission as a prophet, the Pleiadians broke off all contact with him. The strain from the loss of his alien contacts and the fear of loosing his financial support from FIGU members resulted in Meier's nervous breakdown. The only way that he could maintain the financing for his "Semjase Silver Star Center" facility in Switzerland was to continue creating reports regarding contacts with aliens that no longer occurred. Billy Meier had the opportunity to be the savior of humanity, but instead, has become a failure and a disgrace to the world.

This does not, however, diminish the validity of all contacts that Billy Meier had with the entities from the Pleiades prior to Contact Report 190 of July 1, 1983. If anything, it explains the false evidence and information that occurred thereafter. There has never been any attempt by our visitors from the Pleiades to insert false information in order to cause humanity to be more discerning about alien contacts. Everything provided prior to their departure has been truthful and correct. It is only human weakness that has corrupted what we have been so blessed to receive from our neighbors in space.

1.1 The Current Situation

Eduard Albert Meier, nicknamed Billy, currently resides in a large building known as the "Semjase Silver Star Center" in Schmidrueti ZH, Switzerland. At the age of 77, he is the administrator of his organization known as FIGU or Freie Interessengemeinschaft fur Grenz- und Geisreswissenschaften und Ufologiestudien, which translated into English means, The Free Community of Interests in Fringe and Spiritual Sciences and Ufological Studies.

The FIGU organization consists of a few inner core group members and many passive members who are required to pay an annual fee, as well as 7% of their monthly income, and work a minimum of 3 days per year. This organization maintains a website at: www.figu.org along with other supporting websites in Germany, Austria, Canada, Australia, Japan, Italy, Sweden, and other countries. The official English-speaking representative is a man in the United States by the name of Michael Horn with a website at: www.theyfly.com.

The stated goal of FIGU is the worldwide dissemination of the truth, as provided with Billy's help, together with the assistance of Plejarens and other life forms of non-terrestrial origin who know the Truth. This includes assisting all humans in shaping their lives in harmony with the creational laws and recommendations in an orderly and appropriate manner.

In addition to FIGU sponsored activities, other independent individuals such as Maurice Osborn, have also provided information about Billy Meier, his contacts, and activities. A supporting individual from the United Kingdom, by the name of James Moore, has created a website at www.futureofmankind.co.uk that provides an extensive amount of information not available anywhere else. However, there are also people, such as Derek Bartholomaus, with the website of billymeierufocase.com, who seek to expose the falseness of Meier's claims.

1.2 Meier's Biography

Eduard Albert Meier was born in Switzerland on February 3, 1937. At the age of five, Meier observed an extraterrestrial craft for the first time in Switzerland with his father. This was during the middle part of World War II and his father told him that it was a new secret weapon from Hitler. But, Meier could not accept this and felt extraordinarily acquainted with the craft. He realized that it was from the cosmos. This troubled him greatly and within three months, he began to feel alone and no longer connected to his environment.

He soon became teased and abused for being eccentric, willful, and isolated. He was often beaten, for he lost the desire to defend himself or oppose the false charges against him by others. In his deep thoughts, he became isolated from the world as life became hard, remorseless, silly, primitive and degenerated. At the age of 6, he was invited to attend spiritualistic and religious circles and communities without the knowledge of his parents. But, Meier was able to recognize those who pretended to be inspired or mediums and he took actions to unmask them. This caused him to become even more alone and he dedicated himself to spiritual matters.

After two years, Meier started to hear a silent voice within him and decided to confide in a preacher who told him that he had no need to fear this and educated Meier in certain things such as being intuitive and the truth about religion. Meier overcame his fear and devoted himself to not only receiving transmissions, but to asking questions and receiving answers.

So, in the year 1944, Meier took up telepathic contacts with an entity, who called himself Sfath, and became initiated into huge matters that often seemed to him to be delusional. Sfath informed him that he was being prepared for a very important mission. On a summer's day in 1944, Meier saw a pear-shaped object land and a very old man walked out. He approached Meier, stated that his name was Sfath and told Meier to come with him into his craft.

Sfath told Meier to sit down while he handled some controls that caused the craft to ascend. They remained there for a few hours as Sfath told Meier some important information and taught him very important things about which he was ordered to keep silent. Then, Sfath brought Meier back to the earth exactly where he had started four hours previously and disappeared again with his pear-shaped ship.

As a consequence of this, Meier became more isolated from his environment and he endured even greater wicked intrigues. He became known as a problem child and was placed in several institutions. He escaped under life-threatening circumstances and crossed forests for weeks, living on wild berries, fruits, grasses and roots. He became incorrigible, querulous, and antisocial. He was accused of every evil act that occurred and the police automatically seized him. Meier kept silent and was committed to a psychiatric hospital.

Meier escaped from the psychiatric hospital and evaded a search party and dogs. In France, he joined the French Foreign Legion and was sent to Algeria where he learned discipline until he became tired of it and escaped after enduring many terrible situations. Meier returned to Europe and presented himself to the police where they returned him to the same mental hospital. He was then transferred to a house of correction. He remained in prisons and asylums for four and a half years. After his release, he joyfully disappeared abroad for 12 years.

On February 3, 1953, Meier heard Sfath's voice once more and transmitted to him many matters and a huge amount of knowledge before saying goodbye. Only a few hours after Sfath's voice became silent, a new voice came into Meier's head. This new voice explained that she was a woman called Asket and that she would now be his new companion. Meier was finally able to meet Asket in person on February 3, 1956 and they spent many days together while she explained many things to him.

Over the years, Meier attended special schools secretly to become a priest. He became a Protestant, Catholic, Buddhist, Hindu, Jew, Muslim and others. This demanded many years of study and in June of 1969, it finally ended. During the 12 years of travels, Meier undertook more than 320 different professions.

In the course of his duties as a private detective and guard, Meier lost his left arm in a car accident on the third of August, 1965 in Iskenderun, Turkey. On December 25, 1965, Meier met his wife-to-be, Kalliope, and asked her to marry him on January 25, 1966. But, this was not acceptable to her parents, so they eloped on February 25th after many difficulties.

Chapter 2. EXTRATERRESTRIAL CONTACTS

In this chapter, some of the main extraterrestrial beings that Billy Meier has claimed to have had contact with will be described. These descriptions are based upon initial contact information provided by Meier in his Contact Reports during the 1970s. The current state of these beings are not known.

(Back to Contents)

2.1 Sfath

In the year 1944, Meier took up telepathic contacts with an entity, who called himself Sfath, and became initiated into huge matters that often seemed to him to be delusional. Sfath informed him that he was being prepared for a very important mission and that he would have to decide for himself whether to take on the burden of the mission, or not. It was explained that, before his birth, Meier had been elected for this mission.

On a summer's day in 1944, Meier was strolling alone in his thoughts when suddenly he heard Sfath say that he should wait for some minutes and not be frightened. A few minutes later, a peculiar appearing silver metallic object quickly came down from the sky. It was a pear shaped object, no more than 5 or 6 meters in diameter, that landed and a very old man walked out wearing a silvery deep-sea-diver's type of suit without a helmet.

This man approached Meier and spoke in his native dialect. He stated that his name was Sfath and that Meier should come with him. Meier followed Sfath into his craft. Once inside, the craft rapidly ascended above the earth to a height of 70km. They remained there for a few hours as Sfath told Meier some important information and taught him very important things.

Meier was not afraid. Everything appeared to be familiar and self evident to him. He was calm and not astonished when Sfath explained that in the early nineteen fifties, he would be passing down his obligation with Meier to a very much higher developed form of life because he would be near the end of his life and that Meier would be equal to his own knowledge. Sfath told Meier that he would need to be much further developed for his mission and so would be taken under the care of a much higher intelligence. Then, Sfath brought Meier back to the earth exactly where he had started four hours previously and disappeared again with his pear-shaped ship.

On February 3, 1953, Meier heard Sfath's voice once more and transmitted to him many matters and a huge amount of knowledge before saying goodbye. Sfath died and Meier expressed feelings that Sfath was an old man that was very worthy of loving and that he always seemed to him like a venerable old patriarch. Sfath's pear-shaped ship was a present from a nation on one of the two colonized planets in the Sirius System.

2.2 Asket

A few hours after Sfath's voice became silent, a new voice came into Meier's head. This new voice was young, fresh, and full of force, quite unlike Sfath, namely very smooth and harmonic. This new voice explained that she was a woman called Asket and that she would now be his new companion. Meier was finally able to meet Asket in person on February 3, 1956. She showed him inside of the Great Pyramid of Giza and they spent 2 days together while she explained many things to him. Then, 2 days later, they met again for 7 days of time travels. In the following years, Meier learned many things and obtained phenomenal perceptions.

With Asket's help, Meier was led out far into the world for many years to explore and find out many things. Meier was especially taught about spiritual matters which were completely different from his prior religious teachings. Over the years, Meier attended special schools secretly to become a priest. Asket ordered Meier to dedicate himself to the Christian and other religions in order to explore them for the sake of study. So, he became a Protestant, Catholic, Buddhist, Hindu, Jew, Muslim and others. This demanded many years of study and in June of 1969, it finally ended.

2.3 Semjase

At Meier's first contact experience with a Plejaren entity, a UFO landed in a meadow near him. Finding it impossible to get close to the craft, he just sat down on the ground and waited. In less than a minute later, a figure appeared from behind the object. It was obviously a human being, wearing a peculiar gray colored coverall suit that was very pliant and light. The suit was close fitting to the body, extremely durable, and the material resembled the skin of an elephant. Around the neck, there was a ring, which evidently served for the mounting of a helmet.

This entity was a normal female human being with nothing that indicated super abilities, pretentiousness, or spirituality, although she was devilishly attractive. She also walked quite normally for a woman, yet somewhat stronger, more confident, and graceful without being particularly dainty or trying to make any special impression. Slowly, she came near to Meier, seized him by his arm and pulled him up. Her grip was strong and sure, but also very pleasant and secure.

With slow steps, they walked toward Meier's vehicle and sat down in the dry grass together. This extraterrestrial woman then began to speak in perfect German with a strange accent. She stated that her name was Semjase (pronounced Sem-ya-seh) and that she originated from the region of the Pleiades. This was the beginning of several contacts that occurred over many years. Meier guessed that Semjase appeared to be 32 or 33 years old. But, Meier was told that the human beings of the Pleja System live to about 1,000 years of age and that Semjase was very young at only 330 years old.

2.4 Ptaah

Semjase told Meier that he would soon meet her father, Ptaah onboard his Greatspacer mother ship. But Meier was not impressed with the title that Ptaah had of YHWH (or Yahway, meaning God) and said that he would not throw flowers at a megalomaniac. This caused great laughter from Semjase. She explained that she found his comment funny because he assumed pure earthly forms in their world when they have come to know a completely different form for many hundreds of years.

Semjase told Meier not to refer to Ptaah as a god because that brings back sad memories of earlier times in their evolution. The designation of YHWH now has a new meaning for them. Although there are very fine differences in humans at all levels of evolution, everyone is valued equally, even though spiritual development takes a very long time.

Semjase took Meier into the command center of Ptaah's Greatspacer mother ship. The command center had equipment that was arranged like a horseshoe. A single man was seen standing in this horseshoe as Semjase and Meier arrived. This man was dressed similar to Semjase and exuded great love and friendliness. He appeared to be about 70 Earth years old. Semjase and the man hugged and kissed each other and then talked in a strange language to one another.

The man looked at Meier attentively and had a roguish smile in the features of an old man. Semjase introduced Meier to her father and the two of them shook hands. Her father said that it was a great pleasure for him to see Meier there. Semjase had reported very much about him. He welcomed Meier and Meier thanked him.

Semjase's father embraced Meier, who is unable to speak. The man told Meier to call him Ptaah, for that is his name. He says that an ancestor of his lived in earlier times on Earth with a former human race. He was a YHWH and was also named Ptaah. His wife was named Basth and there are still many age-old traditions, tales, and legends of them on Earth. Meier says that he was not aware of this, but would research it when he returns to Earth.

Semjase said that he would discover about this in the South American tales about gods. Meier expressed surprise that she referred to Ptaah as a god when she had told him not to call him that. Meier asked how he should address her father and is told that, because everyone is considered equal, he can call him by his name. Semjase told Meier that her father was 759 years old by the chronology on Earth.

Ptaah personally came to Earth to meet with Meier, who welcomed him with friendship and respect. Ptaah expressed his delight to be with his dear friend. Then, he informed Meier that he was called by Semjase to investigate miserable pieces of work that threaten Meier's life. This was in regards to a missile attack from a ship at Winkelriet near Wetzikon. Ptaah said that he ordered the introduction of telepathic impulses towards Meier and his group regarding the menacing dangers present and provided a warning for him not to undertake any long journeys in the near future.

In particular, he was warned not to give any lectures about the Plejaren presence. But, Meier stubbornly refused to heed these warnings or listen to his group member's advice, even though the Plejarens endeavored so much to prevent such an impending occurrence. Ptaah told Meier that he should act accordingly and not work against his own feelings. They know exactly what they are doing and why they are doing it. They did not become involved without sufficient cause to believe that his life was extraordinarily threatened when he decided to undertake his planned travels.

2.5 Quetzal

Quetzal (pronounced Kuet-zahl) is the name of the highest leader over all Plejaren stations in this solar system. He made telepathic contact with Meier in order to discuss some matters concerning his group. He greeted Meier with honor as a dear friend. But, Quetzal is a serious, no nonsense type of individual with a lot of responsibilities that include monitoring and interacting with the most evil of entities in this region of space.

Quetzal informed Meier that when they issue orders, they are based on absolute logic and a just cause. The orders they issue are a result of exact information and they know what purpose they serve. If their orders are disputed, then they become meaningless and worthless because the path to truth cannot be walked through neglect. It is not permitted for their orders to always be questioned and neglected.

Meier is told that his group members should not disregard their orders and act from their own judgment in these matters. The orders they issue are commands that ought to be observed. When everyone makes their own decisions, then they are treated according to their own decisions. But, Earth humans must observe the natural and creational laws.

Quetzal said that the Plejarens are the leading and advising factors before humanity on Earth and it is not permitted for people to rely on their own illogical thoughts and disregard orders. If they cannot realize the wisdom of the Plejaren logic, this does not give them license to do whatever they want to do.

The Plejarens can only offer spiritual lessons and useful information for humanity on Earth when their advice is respected. Illogical arbitrary actions greatly injure their mission here. Humanity should understand that the Plejarens are 3,000 years in advance of Earth humans in evolution. Anyone on Earth that believes that they know better than the Plejarens are suffering from a selfish megalomania.

Chapter 3. MEIER'S MISSION

During Semjase's first contact with Billy Meier, she told him to listen carefully, write down everything that is said, and go to the public with it. She told him that she would give him the thoughts of their conversation later telepathically so that he can write down everything exactly, word for word. She then told Meier to listen carefully and only interrupt when he does not understand.

She stated that others dare to connect their beamships with human religions, which they do not want to be associated with in any way or at any time. Human so-called sects do not shrink from this step and deceive their fellow human beings by such beliefs. These infamous and primitive machinations should stop before the whole world is overcome by it.

If these deceivers were really in contact with them, and remained so, then they would have offered them the chance to get clear photographic proof of their spaceships. But since they are not sincere humans, they have not given them this opportunity. For evidence of this fact of truth, they have given Meier the opportunity to take distinct pictures of one of their beamships. Later, they will offer him the chance to obtain still better and clearer photographic evidence.

Earth human beings call them extraterrestrials or star people or whatever they want. They associate them with supernatural things, but do not know them in the least. In truth, they are human beings like Earth human beings. But, their knowledge, wisdom, and technology is superior to that of humanity. Although Earth humans have taken their first very small steps toward cosmic space flight, these are no more than the first primitive attempts. Even though mankind has reached the moon with their spacecraft, they have not reached cosmic space.

Many deceivers pretend to be in contact with other planetary human beings of this solar system and have even claimed to have flown in their ships. That is false because most of the planets indicated are so desolate that human life is not even possible there. The other planets in this solar system have been long since devoid of life or are in the first stages of development. However, other solar systems have many kinds of life that are not only human.

The animal and human forms of life throughout space are varied. Also, many animal forms and even plant forms of life have developed higher states of consciousness. So, there exists life that has acquired much knowledge and have freed themselves from their home worlds and traveled through the universe and have also come to Earth. Many of them are rather nasty contemporaries and live in a certain barbarism than exists on Earth.

Mankind ought to be on its guard because these entities often attack and destroy anything that gets in their way. They have destroyed whole planets or beaten their inhabitants into barbarous bondage. It is one of their missions to warn Earth humans of these creatures. Meier is told to let this be known to humanity because more and more time approaches when a conflict with these entities will become unavoidable.

A further mission is aimed at Earth's religions and the associated underdevelopment of the human spirit. Above everything, there remains only one that possesses the power of life and death over each creature. This is the Creation, which has laid its laws over all. These laws are irrefutable and of eternal validity. Human beings can recognize them in nature when he troubles himself to do so. They expose for him the way of life and the way of spiritual greatness, embodying the goal of life. While the human indulges in his religions, and by this a heresy, he passes more and more away until he finally reaches a bottomless abyss.

Humanity should realize that a God can never take over the part of the Creation or destine the fate of a human being. A God is only a Governor and moreover, a human being who exercises a powerful reign of tyranny over his fellow creatures. God is not the Creation, but is only a creature of it like all Creation-dependent creatures. But, Earth humans hunt for their religious wrong beliefs and affirm God as the Creation itself. They go even further and pretend that a normal Earth human by the name of "Emmanuel", who is also called "Jesus Christ", is God's only son and the Creation itself. Different sects of the modern time go on to maintain these same things, which approach delusion.

Yet, as mentioned before, spaceship deceivers also walk in the same direction. They put out the lie to the world that extraterrestrials would come at the order of God, as angels or similar, to bring Earth humans the long hoped for peace and truth of religion with the protection and order of God. That is nothing more than a well-considered falsehood from sectarians and deceivers, for they have never had such orders and they would never do that.

The Creation itself gives the commands because it embodies the greatest power in the universe and it is never in need of commands or religions. Religion is only the primitive work of human beings in order to lead, suppress, and exploit those who are spiritually deficient. Meier is told to bring this truth to the light of the world and make it known. This is a further part of his mission. If this does not happen, then mankind will slowly destroy itself and fall into complete spiritual darkness.

They know that he is aware of a secret old scripture. The originals were unfortunately destroyed by the carelessness of their commissioner, who was Meier's friend, and who by regret has failed in fear. He is told to diffuse and spread the translation of this scripture, because it is the only one which is the authentic truth. They know he also writes about this scripture and the truth. They consider it to be the most important book to be written. But, its language will be harsh and will be met with hatred. It only offers the truth to Earth humans, though some speculations are in it. It is finally able to destroy, for many, the madness of religion or at least temper it very deliberately. It is an extraordinary piece of work that Meier ought to make accessible for humanity.

Semjase tells Meier to live well until their next meeting when she will give him further important information. At that time, the conversation will no longer be so one-sided as it was then when she had so much to explain to him. In the future, the conversation will be quite normal with questions and answers. She says that she will see him again and, until then, she bid him farewell. She re-entered her ship at 3:51 PM.

Chapter 4. EVIDENCE

This chapter refers to evidence that substantiates and discredits the claims of contact by "Billy" Eduard Albert Meier with an extraterrestrial race of human beings from the Pleiades star cluster. These claims are highly controversial and the evidence presented here is intended to help shed light on this subject matter. Although much of the evidence may appear to be in contradiction with other facts presented in this case, a close examination of the evidence clearly shows that all of it is factual and accurate. The evidence is presented in regards to photographs, landing traces, metal samples, advanced knowledge, and prophesies.

4.1 Photographs

This portion is devoted to examining the validity of photographs that were taken by Eduard Meier and presented to the public in support of his claims of contact with extraterrestrial beings from the Pleiades. The images produced by Mr. Meier show circular craft that appear to be flying over Switzerland, where Meier lives.

There are over 1,200 35mm photographs of UFOs that have been examined by photographic experts and computer analysis with no indications of falsified images detected. Meier has taken amazingly clear daytime photographs of craft with other objects and scenery. Some of the pictures of flying objects were taken at very close range. There are also other photographs of multiple craft flying together.

Although these and many other photographs are also presented whenever the "Photos" button above is clicked, the pictures on this page are shown in comparison with images that have been produced by an individual named Phil Langdon. It was Mr. Langdon's objective to discredit the validity of Mr. Meier's photographs by showing how he was able to duplicate, with models, what Mr. Meier produced.

4.2 Landing Traces

The following photographs were taken of grassy fields where alien craft landed near Meier's home. The traces that were left behind affected the soil, plants, and snow in ways that included circular burn marks, imprints, and melted snow.

This is a wide angle shot of the affected area where an alien craft had landed.

This is a picture of Meier standing where three landing tracks have been outlined with poles.

This is a close up shot of one of the circular formations which shows how the grass was laid down in a spiral pattern.

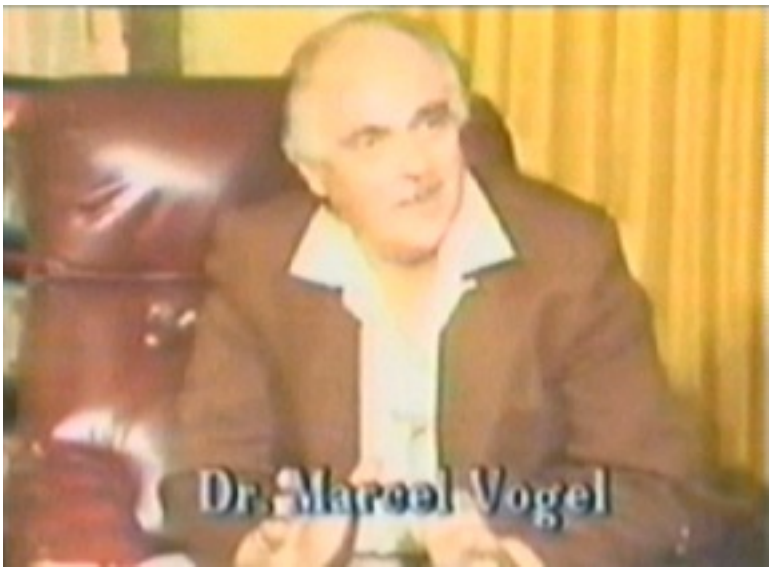
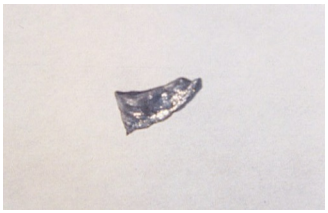
4.3 Metal Samples

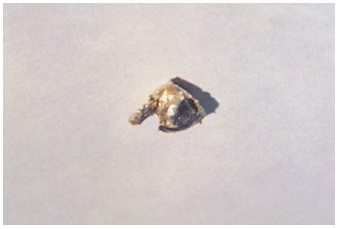
A high level chemist examined metal samples given to Meier from Semjase and discovered that the alloy contained traces of a rare Earth element known as Thulium that was fused together with other elements in an unknown cold fusion process that could not be accomplished with modern technology.



Dr. Marcel Vogel is a patent holding chemist for IBM who examined metal samples given to Meier.



This is a piece of metal, in the lowest state of processing, which was given to Meier during a contact with Semjase.



This is a piece of metal, in the second stage of refinement, which was given to Meier.

This is a piece of metal, in the third stage of refinement, which was given to Meier.

This is a piece of metal in the fourth stage of refinement, but this was not the final stage.

4.4 Advanced Knowledge

Mr. Meier has relayed advanced scientific information, often years before its official release to the public. The following are examples of this advanced knowledge:

In Meier's 35th contact report of Sept. 15, 1975, he described the effects caused by atomic explosions as affecting elementary radiations, damage to the ozone layer, magnetic disturbances, polar displacement, the destruction of micro-organisms, genetic mutations, and damage to the food chain. This was corroborated in 1988 by the Lawrence Livermore National Laboratories and an article in the Los Angeles Times in 1992.

The 45th contact report of February 25, 1976 stated that the oil and natural gas extraction from the Earth caused an increase in earthquake and volcanic activity, which was corroborated in 1990 by a scientist at Stanford University who published an article about it.

The contact reports dated July 7 and July 17, 1975 provided detailed information about Venus, including clouds, a cratered surface, temperatures, wind speed, magnetic field, atmosphere, and color of the terrain, which was corroborated in August of 1976 with an article in Astronomy Magazine. In addition, scientists at the U.S. Geological Survey confirmed the terrain of Venus that matched Meier's reports 6 years earlier.

Contact Report 115, dated October 19, 1978, described the existence of rings around Jupiter, the moon Europa being encrusted in ice, and the moon Io being the most volcanic body in the solar system with a smooth surface. This was corroborated by Dr. Joseph Veverka, chairman of the astronomy department of Cornell University, in the spring of 2003. This was also corroborated on March 5, 1979 with the Voyager I images.

In 1978, Meier wrote about a new comet that would threaten the Earth in September of 2004 and be named Toutatis. In 1989, French astronomers discovered the comet and named it Toutatis, and predicted its arrival on September 29, 2004. Toutatis actually made a close approach to the Earth in December of 1992 at about 2 and a half million miles from Earth.

4.5 Prophesies

Meier has provided prophetically accurate predictions of events that have occurred just as he had foretold them. The Plejarens use advanced computer calculations and time-travel technology to access future outcomes, which they shared with Mr. Meier. Because all of his prophetically accurate predictions were contained within copyrighted documents and published books prior to the occurrence of these events, they constitute as irrefutable legal proof of authenticity. The following are examples of his predictions:

Contact report 115 of October 19, 1978 accurately predicted the massacre at the Jim Jones' Peoples Temple in Jonestown, Guyana on November 18, 1978, the overthrow of the Shah of Iran, Ayatollah Khomeini sentencing 100 people to death, the Chinese invasion of North Vietnam in late-February 1979, the death of Yugoslavian dictator Josip Broz Tito on May 4, 1980, the Russian invasion of Afghanistan at the end of 1979, Indira Gandhi elected as Prime Minister of India and her death, the West Pakistan alliance with China, the abdication of Queen Juliana of Holland to Beatrix in the Spring of 1980, the Iranian hostage crisis, Jimmy Carter sending a rescue mission that killed 12 people on April 24 and 25, 1980, the London police storming the Iranian embassy, Jimmy Carter offering refuge to the Shah of Iran, hurricanes in late February 1980 in the Pacific Ocean off the coast of America, the San Andreas fault, the Mount St. Helen's volcanic eruption on May 18, 1980, and the San Francisco earthquakes.

The predictions of contact 215, dated February 28, 1987, include AIDS spreading worldwide in the 1990s, the Soviet Union dissolving in 1990 and 1991, the European Union (EU) formed with its center in Brussels, Belgium in February of 1992, the attack on the World Trade Center by terrorists on 9/11/01, the United States invasion and fighting in eastern countries in the name of a War on Terrorism and Mad Cow Disease epidemics.

Contact report 251, dated February 3, 1995, also predicted the U.S. invasion of Iraq in March of 2003, Islamic fundamentalism playing a part in uprisings (2002-), the rapid spread of AIDS in the 1990s, scrape epidemic among humans and animals (2003-), and the danger of a nuclear accident near Lyon, France (August 2003).

Chapter 5. CRITICISM

This chapter is devoted to specific types of evidence that have been provided in dispute of Eduard Meier’s claims of contacts with entities from the Pleiades. This information has been derived from the website at: www.BillyMeierUFOcase.com.

(Back to Contents)

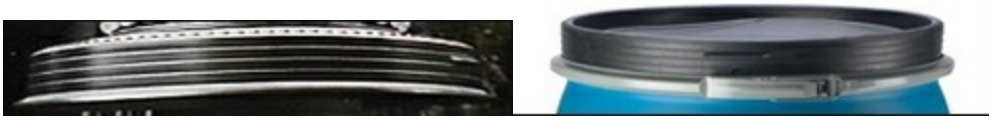
5.1 Wedding Cake UFO Photographs

Among the many different varieties of spacecraft that Billy Meier has claimed to have photographed, there is one type that has received the most criticism. It is called the “Wedding Cake UFO”. Here are some photographs of this type of object:

Billy Meier claims that this is a craft that must be a minimum of 11 feet in diameter. However, research conducted independently has been able to identify several of the components used in the creation of this object which indicate that this is not a large scale craft, but is actually a small scale model.

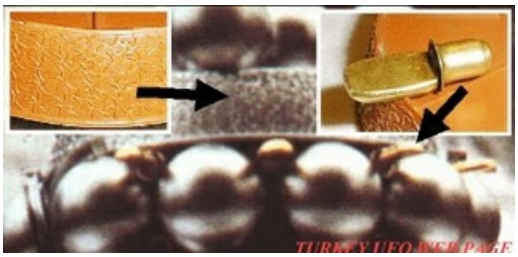
BASE OF THE WEDDING CAKE UFO

The base of the Wedding Cake UFO is very distinctive. It is composed of four circular bands with three well-defined ridges in between each band. In the second band from the top of the base there is a small, flat extension resembling a small wing or handle. But, there is something else that was available in 1975 that shares these same characteristics and that is the lid to a storage container manufactured by Harcostar Drums Limited.



As you can see, the Harcostar Universal Container Lid has the same four circular bands with three well-defined ridges in between each band. Also, in the second band from the top of the lid there are the handles for lid.The silver locking ring around the bottom of the lid is removable. The Harcostar Universal Container Lid seems to be an exact match for the base of the Wedding Cake UFO. The following picture is of a storage room at Billy Meier's organization, known as FIGU. It clearly shows several of the Harcostar Universal Containers with a member holding the lid of a container.

TOP OF THE WEDDING CAKE UFO



The left picture above is a closeup view of the craft and the image above on the right is from a Turkish UFO website that identified two of the items used in the top of the Wedding Cake UFO. The Turkish website identified the top portion as some form of container or pedestal stand and that the brass points that appear underneath the container were pins used in bookcases to position adjustable bookcase shelves.

SPHERES OF THE WEDDING CAKE UFO

Assuming that the base of the UFO is a Harcostar Universal Container lid of 18.54 inches in diameter, then the spheres would be approximately 1.5” in size, which just happens to be the size of Christmas tree ornaments as shown below.

In the picture below on the right, a silver Christmas ornament with its hanging cap removed, appears to match the silver spheres of the craft pictured on the left.

5.2 Dinosaur Photographs

Billy Meier published photographs of dinosaurs that he claimed were from a trip he took into the distant past. The following photograph on the left was released by Meier as proof of his travels back in time. However, the picture on the right is an illustration from a book about dinosaurs.

The following image is of the front cover of a book that was first published in Prague in 1972 with the title of 'Life Before Man', which was written by Zdenek V. Spinar. It was then picked up by the British publishing company of Thames & Hudson and was published throughout the world. The illustration in question within this book was by Zdenek Burian.

5.3 Asket Photographs

Another example of Meier photographing publicly available pictures involves pictures which he claimed to be of a female entity from another universe by the name of Asket. In the 1983 book, “UFO…Contact From The Pleiades

Volume II", the following photograph was presented with the caption, "This is a photograph of Asket, a cosmonaut from the Dal Universe who first had contact with Meier in India in 1964."

The person identified as Asket actually appears to be a singer and dancer by the name of Michelle DellaFave. Michelle was a longtime member of the "Golddiggers" and the "Dingaling Sisters" who appeared on the Dean Martin Variety Show from 1969 thru 1973. Michelle first became aware that Billy Meier had published photographs of her as being his extraterrestrial contact named "Asket" in early 2007. Naturally, anyone with a similar appearance could claim to be the photographed person, but Michelle's statement appears to be very compelling.

Michelle stated, "I know that the picture of myself and Susie is from the Dean Martin show when the Golddiggers were guests on the show. I think it is about 1971 and I did wear my hair with little curls at the side of my face. It amazes me that he chose that picture. I guess it was when they did the reruns in Europe. I do not want anyone thinking I am causing any problems. I am simply stating the truth involved with these pictures. I just know a picture of myself when I see one, as anyone else would. I know it is from a segment when The Golddiggers would sit around Dean Martin and sing beautiful ballads called 'Welcome To My World.'" Michelle also provided the following image that appears to be from the same episode.

5.4 Metal Samples

This portion of the chapter, which criticizes the supporting evidence of Mr. Meiers' claims, refers to Dr. Marcel Vogel's findings regarding metal samples. The following information was drawn from an article titled "Deconstruction of Billy Meier's Metal Samples", at: http://web.archive.org/web/20130508134606/http://www.openminds.tv/decon of-billy-meier%E2%80%99s-metal-samples-865/ which is authored by Ivan Alvarado from the Independent Investigations Group, Hollywood, California.

Ivan Alvarado also requested that the following statement be inserted in this segment: "It has been mentioned by individuals who believe Billy Meier is a contactee, that the metal samples are the single most compelling evidence in the case. Marcel Vogel analysis and conclusions of the metal samples remained un-scrutinized due to the lack of interest from most of the scientists who were approached. This continued on until in 2011 Ivan Alvarado and the Independent Investigations Group in California closely reviewed Vogel's own scientific data and, indeed, found nothing uncommon, unusual, or interesting in these metal samples."

The properties that Dr. Marcel Vogel claims to have been found regarding his examination of metal samples are as follows:

1. Samples contain almost all of the elements of the periodic table.
2. Samples contain the hard to obtain element Thulium with its secondary bands missing in the EDS spectrum.
3. Inclusions in the metal sample exhibit birefringence, which is found in non-metallic or dielectric crystals.
4. Sample examined at a magnification of 500 diameters show signs of micro-manipulation or micro machining.

The claims above have direct data associated to them. Notice that many of the claims that Dr. Vogel made are secondary and derive from conclusions he reached from the propositions listed above. The intention of this article is to show that Vogel's main claims can be scientifically verified based on his own data and that his results can be reproduced out of ordinary materials. The logical argument is that very similar results can be obtained from samples that do not possess the properties that Dr. Vogel claims. It is also the intention of this article to propose that, in light of the analysis herein presented, it is no longer necessary to analyze more samples that Meier may supply in the future.

1. MATERIAL CONTAINS NEARLY ALL OF THE ELEMENTS

The data from which Dr. Vogel claims to have found many elements is a spectrum obtained using Energy-Dispersive X-Ray Spectroscopy (EDS). The spectrum that he provided in support of this claim is shown in the image below. It is a screen-shot of the EDS Spectrum collected by Dr. Vogel where he claims that all the elements of the periodic table are present. The spectrum is collected at 20KeV acceleration voltage.

Figure 1: Screen-shot of the EDS Spectrum collected by Vogel where he claims that all the elements of the periodic table are present. Spectrum collected at 20KeV acceleration voltage.

As a counter-example, the following image shows an EDS spectrum taken at 20KeV of ultra-pure nickel that was captured by I. Alvarado.

Given the similarities of the two spectra above, it can be deduced that the evidence for all the elements present in the sample can be reproduced by a sample consisting of virtually a single element which, in this case, was a pellet of ultra-pure nickel.

The scientific explanation is that the bell-shaped spectrum shown in both spectra is the so-called Bremsstrahlung continuum x-ray radiation, which is produced when electrons decelerate as they pass close to the atomic nuclei of the material. This phenomenon is very well known in EDS analysis and has no bearing on the element composition of the sample.

2. MATERIAL CONTAINS THE RARE-EARTH ELEMENT THULIUM

The image below is a screen-shot of Dr. Vogel's EDS spectrum where he identifies Thulium and other elements. Here, it is pointed out that the secondary bands of Thulium are not present, which is further used to speculate that the material was put together by unknown methods (e.g. cold fusion). The spectrum was collected with 20KeV acceleration voltage.

Figure 3: Screen-shot of the EDS Spectrum collected by Vogel where the claim is made that the element Thulium is present in the sample. Spectrum collected at 20KeV acceleration voltage.

The following image is of a spectrum at 20KV that was produced with a sample made by manually placing a small flake of Silver on top of Aluminum. The band at 0 KeV is background noise.

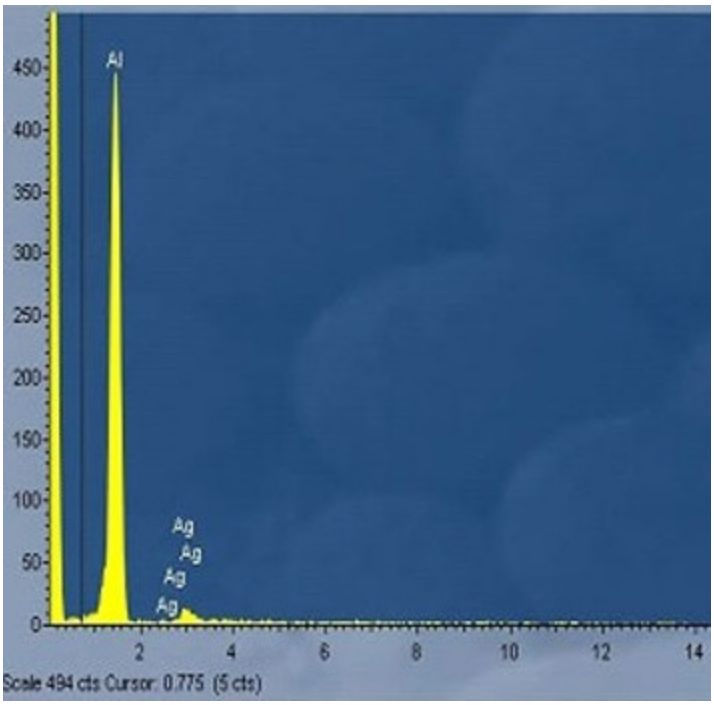

Figure 4: EDS Spectrum at 20KV of a sample consisting of Aluminum and a flake of Silver manually placed on top. The band at 0 KeV is background noise. Spectrum captured by I. Alvarado.

The striking similarity between the two spectra in the two images above is evident and, thus, what Dr. Vogel observed was not the hard-to-obtain Thulium, but rather the very-common element Aluminum with some traces of Silver. The Aluminum and Silver of the above sample are obviously not bonded or alloyed and yet the sample still produces an EDS spectrum identical to Dr. Vogel's. It then follows that EDS alone cannot determine neither chemical bonding nor alloying between the elements detected. Thus, the claim that the elements found in Meier's sample are bonded or alloyed cannot be supported by EDS analysis alone. The proposition of the missing bands is then nullified as Aluminum does not possess them.

The scientific explanation of this is that Aluminum has one strong EDS band at 1.486 KeV, which is very close to the lowest energy band produced by Thulium at 1.462 KeV. It is common for a computer analyzing EDS spectra to mistake between elements whose energy bands lie close to each other. This explains why the computer also identified Bromine and Argon in Vogel's spectrum as they too possess energy bands close to Aluminum and Silver. The presence or absence of secondary bands then becomes important to distinguish between elements. Thus, the spectrum obtained by Dr. Vogel is best explained as that produced by a piece of Aluminum with traces of Silver that are not alloyed or chemically bonded.

3. INCLUSIONS IN THE METAL EXHIBIT BIREFRINGENCE

Dr. Vogel claims to have detected dielectric birefringence in inclusions around the edges of the sample by means of optical microscopy with cross-polarized illumination. The sequence of his observation is shown in the images below. Here, Dr. Vogel goes on to speculate that the sample exhibits a duality between being a metal and a non-metallic crystal. The upper image shows normal illumination and lower image is shown with cross-polarized illumination. The bright portions on the lower image are claimed to be produced by crystal birefringence.

Figure 5: Two optical micrographs of the same region of the sample taken by Vogel. The upper one shows normal illumination and Right cross-polarized illumination. The bright portions on the lower one are claimed to be produced by crystal birefringence.

Now, it is true that a birefringent crystal will appear bright under cross-polarized illumination, when the crystal is aligned properly in the optical setup. However, such observation can also be produced by samples that have rugged topography. The upper image below shows an optical micrograph of a poorly deposited metal film on silicon as it is imaged under normal illumination conditions and under cross-polarized illumination.

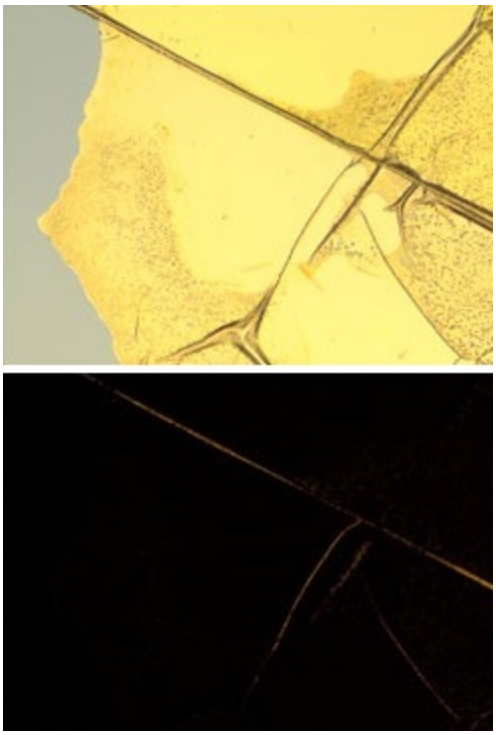

Figure 6: Optical micrograph of a metal film poorly deposited onto the surface of a silicon wafer. The upper picture shows normal illumination and Right cross-polarized illumination. The bright streaks on the lower one are produced by the topography of the surface. Micrographs captured by I. Alvarado with a 50x optical objective.

Just like in Dr. Vogel's micrograph sequence, bright regions are also clearly observed in the lower image above under cross polarized light. The difference is now that they are produced merely by the topography of the metal itself and not by non-metallic crystal birefringence. This shows that the cross-polarization method is insufficient to establish whether dielectric birefringence exists in any given sample. Since the sample analyzed by Dr. Vogel has a very clear rough surface, the bright regions he observes under cross-polarized light are best explained by the surface topography and not by the presence of non-metallic crystal inclusions in the sample. Since there is no reason to believe that there are insulating portions embedded in Dr. Vogel's metal sample, then severe charge accumulation during SEM imaging is not expected.

4. SIGNS OF MICRO-MANIPULATION OR MICRO MACHINING

However, the second image below shows a SEM micrograph of the surface of an aluminum plate taken at a magnification of 500 diameters as well. That plate was made by conventional metal machining and its surface shows a very clear periodic pattern with a 50 micron pitch that the cutting edge produced during the process. The structure produced was not intentional and has no functionality. Other portions of the same surface did not show this structure.

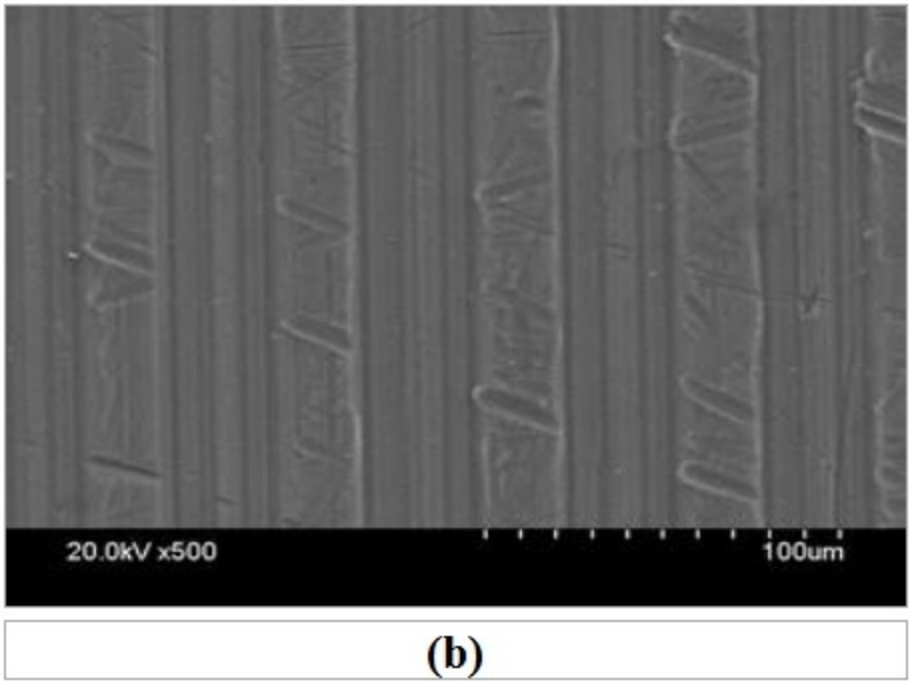

Figure 8: SEM micrograph of the surface of an Aluminum plate machined by conventional means at 500 diameters magnification, as indicated in the lower caption bar. SEM captured by I. Alvarado.

Given that patterns like this can be obtained unintentionally by ordinary metal cutting tools, it is not necessary to speculate on possible exotic micro-machining processes to produce them. Indeed, a structure imaged at 500 diameters cannot be considered micro-machined even by 1985 technology, let alone by today's state-of-art nanofabrication techniques, which routinely produce structures that are imaged at magnifications of 100,000 diameters.

To summarize, all the results obtained by Marcel Vogel have been properly reproduced from common samples using equivalent equipment and techniques. The spectrum showing all the elements of the periodic table was produced by a sample that virtually contains only one element, the spectrum showing Thulium and Silver was obtained out of a sample of non-alloyed Aluminum and Silver, the cross-polarization optical micrographs that are used to show non-metallic birefringence in the sample were reproduced by a purely metallic sample. A similar micro-machined structure was found in an ordinary machined metal. In all the cases, the instruments and techniques used were equivalent to those used by Dr. Vogel.

Many of the speculations adduced by Dr. Vogel become invalid in light of the counter-examples presented in this article. For instance, the missing bands of Thulium led Dr. Vogel to speculate on cold fusion, which becomes unsustainable after showing that the spectrum obtained is that of Aluminum. Speculation of duality metal-dielectric in the sample also is not required as no valid evidence of birefringence was presented. And so on with the rest of the claims.

Furthermore, some of the claims did not have data to support them and even other claims are pure anecdotes. For example, Dr. Vogel claimed that Rhenium was found in the sample with missing EDS bands in regards to Argument 2 where Thulium was identified; the spectrum was not shown for either of the references and it could have been Zinc, as this element has some EDS bands close to that of Rhenium. I am certainly willing to analyze more EDS spectra or SEM micrographs that Dr. Vogel or the lab in Switzerland might have produced on these samples, if they are brought to my attention. What should not be done is to take Dr. Vogel's or any other scientist's word alone to validate any conclusions.

5.5 Prophesies

This section provides evidence that discredits specific prophesies and claims of advanced knowledge that have been made by Billy Meier. For evidence regarding acurate predictions, select the “Prophesies” link in the web page for Substantiating Evidence. Meier’s acurate advanced knowledge is also available with the “Advanced Knowledge” link in the same web page.

The following specific and detailed facts that are claimed to have been written by Billy Meier before terrestrial discovery of the same information are examined here. The date on which a given Contact Note was written is open to question because it cannot be verified by an unbiased source. Only the date on which a work is widely published can be considered as proof of when it existed. Therefore, the publication dates of books that contain predictions are the best confirmable dates. As a result, the following examination of Meier’s claims are based on the earliest terrestrial reports that could be found for the information.

The following is a list of categories relating to advanced knowledge and specific prophesies in question. The text of each category follows sequentially.

1. Asteroid Apophis Prophecy

2. Advanced Information in the 115th Contact

3. 7th and 35th Contacts Regarding Ozone Damage

4. Highest Mountain on Earth in the 31st Contact

5. Increased Earthquake and Volcanic Activity in the 45th Contact

6. Cattle Madness Disease in the 249th Contact

7. Nuclear Accident in Contact 251, Part 2

8. World War III Prophesy in Contact 251, Part 2

1. Asteroid Apophis Prophecy

Meier made a report about a destructive red meteor in 1981 with Contact Report 150, which was documented in published books that post-date the contact but pre-date the discovery of an asteroid named Apophis. However, this report also stated that the red meteor may not cause any destruction because certain factors indicate otherwise. Then, Asteroid Apophis was discovered and announced publicly toward the end of 2004. The astronomers never thought it would hit in 2029, just come close and possibly hit Earth in 2036.

Then in 2008, Meier's Contact Report 471 says that great danger by the meteor would threaten Earth on the 13th of April 2029, which just happens to be the exact date of when Apophis was announced to come near Earth. Contact Report 475 then came out two months later in November of 2008, which referred to Aprophis as having been previously announced, but also stated that the red meteor would either hit Earth in the year 2029, or only whiz by very closely and then reappear in the year 2036, which could really lead to a catastrophe. There is no definitive link between the “red meteor” prophecy in 1981 to attribute it to the exact information that Meier states 4 years after Apophis is discovered.

2. Advanced Information in the 115th Contact

Billy Meier wrote some information about Jupiter and its moons in the 115th Contact, dated October 19, 1978. This contact was published in widely-available magazines and newspapers in 1979, most of it in early March. More recent scientific findings show that some of that information was wrong. Meier's 115th Contact states that “Jupiter is an incomplete sun. Jupiter actually should have become a sun, but its measurements were too small. The entire structure of Jupiter principally consists of liquid helium and hydrogen. The cloud formations in the storm funnel of Jupiter moves at extremely high velocity and in a counter-clockwise direction.”

However, the rotation direction of the Great Red Spot and the sun-like hydrogen and helium composition of Jupiter were reported after Pioneer 10 and Pioneer 11 visited Jupiter in the first half of the 1970s. The Contact Note also states, "the ring around Jupiter, for the most part, consists of particles". However, this was reported in "Aviation Week" magazine on 12 March 1979. The Contact Note also states that the moon closest to Jupiter (Amalthea) only measures approximately 200 km in length. This information is not correct. Amalthea is not the innermost moon and it has been determined to be approximately 270 km long.

However, Meier's information did match that of multiple newspaper and magazine articles, such as the New York Times on 7 March 1979, which reported that Amalthea was the innermost moon and that it was approximately 200 km long. It was also stated that Jupiter's moon, Io, once was totally covered with water. Unfortunately, it is not believed that Io was once covered in water. The possibility was suggested in 1979 to explain the appearance of Io. However, widespread volcanic activity was discovered shortly afterward which also explained the appearance and the ocean hypothesis appears to have been abandoned. Other claims about volcanic plumes, Jupiter's ring, and volcanoes on the moon, Io, are also incorrect.

3. 7th and 35th Contacts Regarding Ozone Damage

These Contact Notes, dated February 25th and July 17th of 1975, state that there is a connection between atom bomb testing and damage to the ozone, that the contribution of bromine gases causes damage to the ozone, and that an ozone hole could damage the food chain and cause genetic mutations on Earth. Meier was also encouraged to contact a Prof. Michael McElroy of Harvard University with this information.

However, all of this information was widely available in 1974 from the New York Times and the magazine "Science". It is also interesting that the New York Times on 28 February 1975, which was 6 months before the date of the Contact Note, reported that Dr. Michael B. McElroy of Harvard University said that bromine appears so effective at ozone depletion that it could be used as a weapon. This causes one to wonder why an advanced extraterrestrial being would encourage Meier to report information to a person who already knew it?

4. Highest Mountain on Earth in the 31st Contact

In the 31st Contact, dated July 17 1975, Semjase informed Meier that Mount Chimborazo was higher than Mt. Everest by 2,150 meters because the Earth is not perfectly round and bulges in the middle-thus, measuring mountains from sea level is not an accurate way of assessing the true height of a mountain. An article in "Newsweek" magazine, dated 4 August 1975, essentially corroborates Meier's claim. However, a more recent article in "National Geographic" magazine, dated January 2002, states that the actual difference comes out to be 2,202 meters. A small numerical difference between 2,150 m and 2,200 m is not very meaningful all by itself, but when the incorrect information matches the information available on earth at approximately the time of the prediction, it appears likely that the prior publication was the true source of the information.

5. Increased Earthquake and Volcanic Activity in the 45th Contact

The 45th Contact, dated February 25 1976, states that the extraction of petroleum and natural gas from the Earth, the damming of waters, and the construction of huge cities were major contributing factors to increased earthquake and volcanic activity. This was corroborated in The Good Life-Independent Journal newspaper on June 27, 1990 in an article titled "EARTHQUAKES, OIL INTER-ACT".

However, there are more recent articles that report the global level of both earthquake and volcanic activity has stayed at near annual averages for most of this century. So, in the past century, there has been a large increase in oil wells drilled, dams built, and the size of cities, but there has been no corresponding increase in large earthquakes and volcanic activity.

6. Cattle Madness Disease in the 249th Contact

In the 249th Contact, dated June 13 1994, Meier asked about the cattle madness disease. He was told that sheep triggered the epidemic and then it was transmitted to cattle. This epidemic can also be transmitted to human beings along with all mammals. The incubation period for the disease varies depending upon the life form's resistance to it, which may vary from 3 months to 50 years. The higher the evolution of the life form, the longer the incubation period. Therefore, with human beings it can range from 40 to 50 years. While Meier was ahead of the British government scientists' announcement of the definite link between BSE and the human strain, there was a newspaper report in "The Guardian" of London, dated 29 April 1994, that reported essentially the same things several weeks before Meier's contact.

7. Nuclear Accident in Contact 251, Part 2

In Contact 251, Part 2, it states, "The danger of accidents in nuclear reactors will increase throughout the world. Regarding this subject, France in particular must be extraordinarily careful in every way, for one prophecy warns of a strong probability for an accident near Lyon, which can be prevented as long as the responsible individuals undertake the right steps --- a prophecy can be changed." In August of 2003 the Bugey nuclear power station was fully operational near Lyon, France on the Rhone River and was mentioned in articles pertaining to a national emergency in France. Meier and his followers took this information as evidence that this prophecy had come true.

The American representative for Meier, Michael Horn, published an article in 2005 about the prophesy, which stated "Meier specifically warned of the possibility of an accident, one that he said could be avoided, however, at the nuclear power plant near Lyon, France. The emergency scenario, and the timely shut down of that exact plant, occurred on August 12, 2003." However, there was no accident involving the nuclear power plant near Lyon, France and the plant was never shut down. In August of 2003 Europe suffered from the worst heat wave in recorded history.

At that time, French environmental regulations stated that the maximum temperature of water, which is released back into the river after cooling the power station, is 24 degrees Celsius. The reason for that is to prevent damage to the plant and animal life in the river. In order to keep up with the higher demands for power during the heat wave, the plant was allowed to release the water back into the river at one degree higher in temperature. If this had not happened, there may have been an overheating of the reactor or disruptions in power supply. There was no nuclear power plant accident and the plant was never shut down. As the prophesy predicted, responsible individuals undertook the right steps to prevent an accident.

8. World War III Prophesy in Contact 251, Part 2

In Contact 251 Part 2, it is written, "This will signal the first threat of a looming third world war, as foretold by a prophecy, unless terrestrial Man strives to avert this danger through reasoning and appropriate thoughts and actions. Should Man fail to act against the fulfillment of this prophecy, a new and extremely destructive weapon will be built that will produce disastrous consequences in the next world war. One important factor in this scenario is the criminal neglect to monitor the Earth from space. New weapons will once again create quite a stir, and so will the death of 4 heads of state who will die within 7 days from each other. These then are the last danger signs, which foretell that within merely 2 years of these events the long-feared world war will indeed erupt, unless terrestrials finally gain mastery over their reasoning to stop all these ills."

In December 2006 four Heads of State died: Augusto Pinochet (December 10), Saparmurat Niyazov (December 21), Gerald Ford (December 26), and Saddam Hussein(December 29, 2006). With the deaths of these four individuals Meier's American representative, Michael Horn, professed that the above prophecy had come true. Although three of the dignitaries died within one week of each other, Augusto Pinochet died eleven days earlier, on December 10, before the next death of Saparmurat Niyazov on December 21. If these were the four heads of state referred to in Meier's prophesy, then it would appear that mankind has averted this danger through reasoning, appropriate thoughts, and actions since a world war did not break out in 2008. Otherwise, this prophesy may still occur in the future and Michael Horn was wrong to have stated that his prophesy had been fulfilled.

When Schantz Scott, a member of FIGU, discovered that Michael Horn had released a statement about the prophesy being fulfilled, he asked him why he would put out a press release regarding the 4 heads of state without confirming that with FIGU. Mr. Horn replied stating, "I thought that it may have fulfilled the prophecy. Since I am not an employee of Meier or FIGU, nor a member of a mind-control cult, etc. I am free to publish my opinions whether they agree with Meier's or not." It is interesting that a person who is officially recognized as a spokesperson for Billy Meier does not believe that he should check with Billy Meier before making statements on Billy Meier's behalf. It is also very interesting that he would refer to a mind-control cult while stating that he is not an employee of Meier or FIGU.

Chapter 6. FAMILY AFFAIRS

Eduard Meier, who prefers to be called Billy after Billy the Kid, was initially able to support his wife and family by doing many odd jobs. They had a daughter, named Gilgamesha, on September 20, 1967 in Quetta, West-Pakistan. Then, on August 9, 1970, they had a son, named Atlantis, at Wetzikon, Switzerland and another son, named Methusalem, on October 31, 1973 also in Wetzikon, Switzerland. The following is a photograph of Meier and his family while he worked as a security guard.

The current outward appearance of Billy Meier is that of a pleasant, bearded, and elderly man. His demeanor, as exhibited in the contact notes, during his relationships with extraterrestrial beings is that of a kind, intelligent, courteous and respectful person. Although he has been known to express strong opinions with others, he has also demonstrated a willingness to accept polite criticisms and express a free exchange of ideas. He certainly appears to be the ideal person to represent humanity in contacts with a benevolent extraterrestrial race of human beings. The following is a recent picture of Billy Meier.

Unfortunately, the outward appearance of Billy Meier does not provide an accurate portrayal of who this man actually is with other Earthly human beings. Meier's background clearly shows that he did not have a pleasant childhood and that he was treated very harshly in many institutions, psychiatric hospitals, prisons and asylums, not to mention the bad treatment of his wife's parents. He certainly has many reasons to dislike mankind.

6.1 Gilgamesha Letter

The contact notes indicate that the Plejarens encouraged Meier to be forceful and demanding when interacting with his inner circle of FIGU members and followers, which was necessary in order to accomplish the organization's mission. However, Meier's demeanor with his wife, family, and friends was quite another matter. The following is a hand-written letter by Billy Meier that was addressed to his daughter, Gilgamesha on December 2nd 1967, where he admits to beating and abusing his wife.

Thessaloniki, den 2. Dez. 1967

Meine einzige und liebe Tochter Gilgamesha,

Ich weiss nicht, wie alt Du bist und wie Du aussiehst, wenn Du diese meine Zeilen liest. Ich weiss nur soviel, dass Du meine liebliche Tochter bist und dass mein Herz zutiefst schmerzt in diesem Augenblicke, da ich diesen Brief für Dich schreibe. Denn dieser Brief bedeutet die Trennung von Dir und mir und die Trennung von mir und Deiner Mutter.

Siehe, liebe Tochter Gilgamesha, Deine Mutter hat Dich in Quetta, West Pakistan geboren am 20.9.67. Ohne Geld, da uns alles gestohlen worden war, schlug ich mich mit Dir und Mutter dann durch - zurück nach Griechenland, da Mutter noch Eltern, Grosseltern, Onkel und Tanten hatte. 15 Tage brauchten wir, um von Quetta nach Saloniki zu gelangen, da wir uns in Finanznot-Phönix bei einem Onkel und seine Frau niederlassen, um einige Wochen da zu bleiben, da uns von meiner Heimat, der Schweiz, Geld für die Rückfahrt erwarteten.

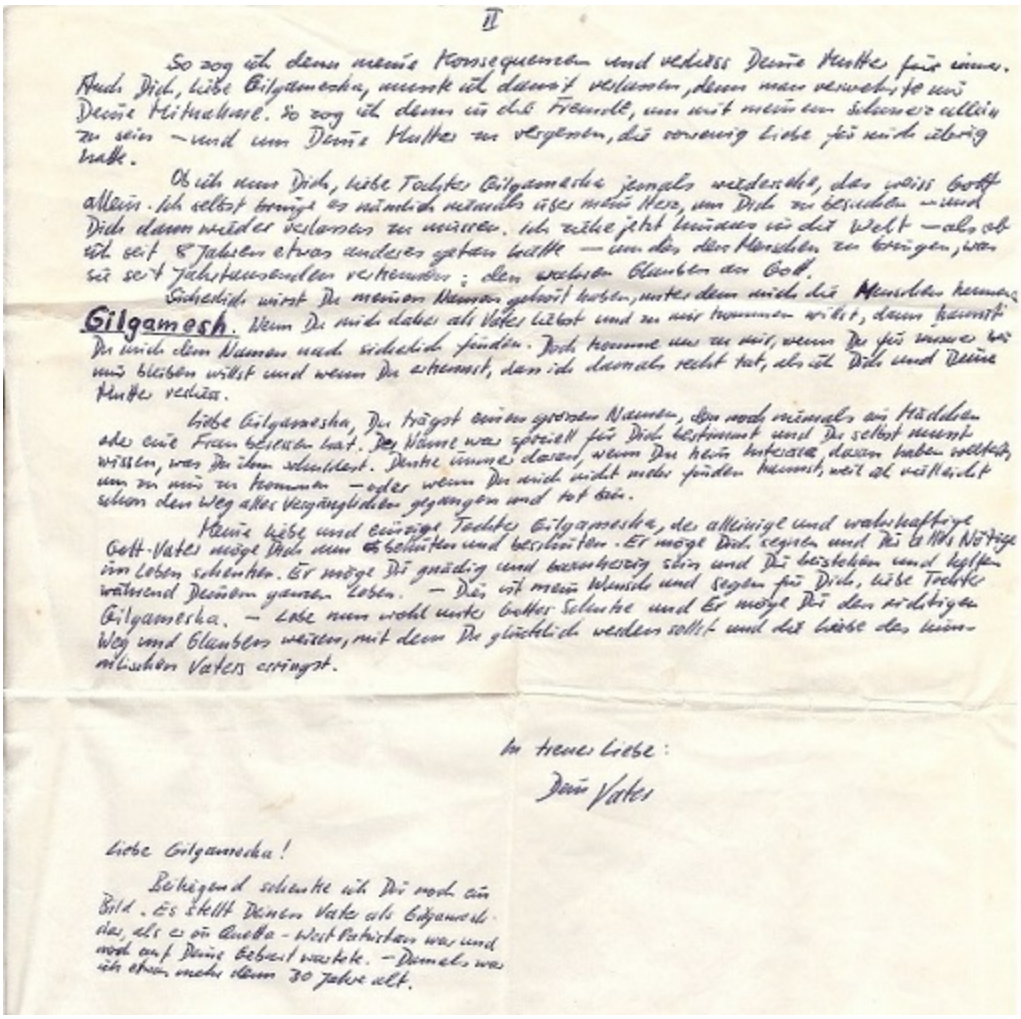
Nun, alles kam jedoch anders: Ich bin ein Mensch, der an keine Märchen glaubt, sondern nur an Tatsachen. So gab es denn bei Onkel schnell Streit, da der leider nicht sehr streng orthodox sind und infolgedessen behaupten, dass Jesus - ein Mensch - streng orthodox sind und infolgedessen behaupten, dass Jesus - ein Mensch - Gottes Sohn und gar Gott selbst sei. Ich jedoch hundertprozentig weiss, dass Gott allein Gottes Sohn und gar Gott selbst sei. Ich jedoch hundertprozentig weiss, dass Gott allein und ohne menschlichen Sohn ist - und weil ich Gott aufrichtig und in Treue liebe - so und ohne menschlichen Sohn ist - und weil ich Gott aufrichtig und in Treue liebe - so gab es natürlich Streit, weil ich Dich nicht durch einen Pfaffen taufen lassen wollte, gab es natürlich Streit, weil ich Dich nicht durch einen Pfaffen taufen lassen wollte, der Jesus als Gott oder dessen leiblichen Sohn bezeichnet. Deine Mutter verstand dies der Jesus als Gott oder dessen leiblichen Sohn bezeichnet. Deine Mutter verstand dies leider nicht, da sie stets, wie alle Orthodoxen den ihnen Glauben festhielt, dem Onkel leider nicht, da sie stets, wie alle Orthodoxen den ihnen Glauben festhielt, dem Onkel und Tante noch schmeichelte. Die Folge davon war, wie gesagt, Streit, während dem ich und Tante noch schmeichelte. Die Folge davon war, wie gesagt, Streit, während dem ich mit Dir weglaufen wollte, um in meine Heimat zu gehen. Dies verweigerte mir jedoch Deine mit Dir weglaufen wollte, um in meine Heimat zu gehen. Dies verweigerte mir jedoch Deine Mutter mit Hilfe von Tante und Onkel, sodass mir nur übrig blieb, mit Dir und Mutter zusammen Mutter mit Hilfe von Tante und Onkel, sodass mir nur übrig blieb, mit Dir und Mutter zusammen weiter hier zu bleiben. Das ging jedoch nicht gut aus, denn täglich machte der Onkel Streit weiter hier zu bleiben. Das ging jedoch nicht gut aus, denn täglich machte der Onkel Streit wegen Kleinigkeiten - schon von frühesten Morgenstunden. Dies ging mir dermassen auf wegen Kleinigkeiten - schon von frühesten Morgenstunden. Dies ging mir dermassen auf die Nerven, dass ich des Nachts schreckliche Alpträume hatte und mich ungeschickterweise im Bett unherwälzte.

Auch schrieb ich an der Zeit an einem Buch, um Gott den Menschen wieder nahe zu bringen, da die Menschheit Jesus als Gott anbetet - und nicht etwa Gott, der der Alleinige und Allgewaltige ist. Dafür hatte deine Mutter Onkel jedoch ebenfalls kein Verständnis, sondern nur Schimpfworte und Lästerungen übrig.

Glaube mir, liebe Gilgamesha, so stieg mir alles über den Kopf, als meine Nerven zu zittern begannen. So wurde mir dann am 2. Dezember 1967 alles zuviel. Daher bat ich Deine Mutter, den Gepäck herzurichten, damit wir noch selben Tage per Autostopp trachten die Schweiz reisen können. - Wie Du von Mutter sicher weisst, so heiratete ich mit einem Arm, da ich den andern am 3. August 1965 durch einen Autounfall verloren hatte. Daher bat ich Deine Mutter, dass sie den Reisegepäck zurechtmachen soll - weil ich es selbst nur schwerlich tun konnte. Deine Mutter weigerte sich jedoch, weil sie lieber beim Onkel und der Tante bleiben konnte. Deine Mutter weigerte sich jedoch, weil sie lieber beim Onkel und der Tante bleiben wollte - und weil sie sich nicht um meine Gesundheit kümmerte. Dabei wusste sie ganz genau, dass ich gesundheitlich wurde, wenn mir die Nerven durchgingen. In früheren Zeiten machte sie mich oft derartig nervös, dass ich sie schlug und unflätige Worte sprach. Darum bat ich Deine Mutter, nun mit mir und Dir in meine Heimat zu reisen. Ich wollte nicht nochmals meine Nerven verlieren, um dann Mutter zu schlagen. Denn ich selbst kann nichts dafür - unglücklicherweise - und fühle grösste Schmerzen zutiefst in meinem Herzen.

Da sich Deine Mutter nun weigerte, um mit mir und Dir nach der Heimat zu reisen, so erklärte ich ihr, dass ich in diesem Falle allein reisen würde, - jedoch nicht in die Heimat, sondern irgendwohin - um Deine Mutter niemals mehr wiederzusehen in meinem. Denn sie hatte für ihren Onkel, für ihre Tante und den Orthodoxen-Irrglauben mehr übrig und mehr Liebe als für Dich und mir. Als ich ihr sagte, da konnte sie keine plausible Antwort darauf geben - denn meine Worte entsprachen eben der Wirklichkeit.

Für das Verhalten Deiner Mutter gibt es also keine Entschuldigung und auch am 2. Dezember 67 gab es keine. Auch wenn Deine Mutter damals noch recht jung war (19), so hätte sie wissen müssen, dass ich ihr mehr wert sein musste - als eben Onkel und Tante. Doch wusste sie es nicht. Sie zog lieber mich wieder in die Fremde ziehen, als dass sie mir liebe erwiesen hätte und zusammen mit Dir und mir in die Schweiz - unsere gemeinsame Heimat - gegangen wäre.



II

So zog ich denn meine Konsequenzen und verliess Deine Mutter für immer. Auch Dich, liebe Gilgameshka, musste ich damals verlieren, denn man verwehrte mir Deine Mitnahme. So zog ich denn in die Fremde, um mit meinem Schmerz allein zu sein – und um Deine Mutter zu vergessen, die scheinbar Liebe für mich übrig hatte.

Ob ich nun Dich, liebe Tochter Gilgameshka jemals wiedersehe, das weiss Gott allein. Ich selbst bringe es nämlich niemals über mein Herz, um Dich zu besuchen – und Dich dann wieder verlassen zu müssen. Ich ziehe jetzt bewusst in die Welt – als ob ich seit 8 Jahren etwas anderes getan hätte – um die den Menschen zu bringen, was sie seit Jahrtausenden verkommen: den wahren Glauben an Gott.

Sicherlich wirst Du meinen Namen gehört haben, unter dem mich die Menschen kennen: Gilgamesh. Wenn Du mich dabei als Vater liebst und zu mir kommen willst, dann kannst Du mich dem Namen nach sicherlich finden. Doch komme nur zu mir, wenn Du für immer bei mir bleiben willst und wenn Du ehrenamt, dann ich damals recht tat, als ich Dich und Deine Mutter verliess.

Liebe Gilgameshka, Du trägst einen grossen Namen, den noch niemals ein Mädchen oder eine Frau besessen hat. Der Name war speziell für Dich bestimmt und Du selbst nennst wissen, was Du ihm schuldest. Denke immer daran, wenn Du hier inkarniert, dann haben wolltest, um zu mir zu kommen – oder wenn Du mich nicht mehr finden kannst, weil ich vielleicht schon den Weg alles Vergänglichen gegangen und tot bin.

Meine liebe und einzige Tochter Gilgameshka, der alleinige und wahrhaftige Gott-Vater möge Dich nun beschützen und beschirmen. Er möge Dich segnen und Dir alles Nötige im Leben schenken. Er möge Dir gnädig und barmherzig sein und Dir beistehen und helfen während Deinem ganzen Leben. – Dies ist mein Wunsch und sagen für Dich, liebe Tochter Gilgameshka. – Lebe nun wohl unter Gottes Schutze und Er möge Dir den richtigen Weg und Glauben weisen, mit dem Du glücklich werden sollst und die Liebe des himmlischen Vaters erringst.

In treuer Liebe:

Dein Vater

Liebe Gilgameshka!

Beiliegend schenke ich Dir noch ein Bild. Es stellt Deinen Vater als Gilgamesh dar, als er in Quetta – Westpakistan war und noch auf Deine Geburt wartete. – Damals war ich etwa mehr denn 30 Jahre alt.

6.2 Methusalem Letter

Another indication of what Billy Meier is really like can be revealed in how his own son describes the treatment that he has received by his father and other members in Meier's FIGU organization. The following is an open letter written by Methusalem Meier to the FIGU organization in 2011.

An open Letter to the FIGU

After 30 Years of slander, I've had enough. Over the years, I have been accused of lying, stealing and other terrible activities. This has happened by some of the FIGU members and, sadly, also from my Father, who is highly evolved. The FIGU organization states that respect for every human being means everything to FIGU, but some from FIGU have treated me badly. Even if my father is the Prophet of the new Age, FIGU members have to understand that he is still a human being and, according to this, he makes mistakes. This is a fact.

My father has helped me a lot financially in the last few months and I'm very thankful. But, it doesn't mean that I have to accept being treated like a piece of trash. I have to say that I do not place the Mission or the Teachings into question. I can imagine that some of you will stop and not read any further, but this would confirm that you take, once more, the easiest way, that you only pay attention to hearsay and that you don't want to hear the Truth. Yes, it is easier to listen to others and judge other people like some in the FIGU used to do. I am almost 100% sure that the FIGU members will react to this letter with other dubious explanations and more discredit towards me under order of my father or not or by my father himself.

Like always before, you will try to put yourselves in the position of the damaged party in order to start a big attack. But, you can't shoot at me if I know all of your reactions. If someone passes criticism at my Father, that person is badly demeaned. But now, I am not any longer quiet because FIGU and my Father are trying again to destroy my reputation. First of all, I have to take care of my health. Or have you people only given me the runaround? I was always good enough for help the mission. Or maybe you would keep me under your control by putting me systematically in the position of a liar or cheater in order to have something in your hands against me, if the FIGU should need it? This is suspicious. It makes the FIGU organization nervous if I don't tell everything about my private life.

Yes it is true that I spread the rumor that I am in the Swiss Alps for a cure. But I followed the Recipe/Formula of my Father. This means that I started a story, which was not true, in order to get another story that is true. I must now disappoint those who try to abase or hurt me since I already expected that FIGU again will start with some stories against me. But I knew this before I left Switzerland and I was wondering what kind of fairy tales that FIGU or my Father would start.

Some of my friends were informed about my plans to show them what kind of bad and sneaky games that some people are trying to play with me.

Because of this I only informed a hand full of people about my trip to America. And isn't it funny? Whomever in the FIGU got messages from Brazil or from a Karol Steeves whereby you FIGU people started once more out of hearsay to plant a rumor of any false pretence and posted that crap on the Internet.

I never said, and it was never my idea, that I would set up a FIGU Group together with A.C.C. Certainly not the least of reasons being that I have had enough of this intrigue and playschool. Therefore, I am not disillusioned and I have never talked of the FIGU in a bad way. I only said, because of personal experiences, I do not interfere and talk in any matters of FIGU. I said quite clearly, that I am in America to help my friend A.C.C with his move because he is really handicapped and barely able to walk. And also, to have some holydays to get me some time away. Hey, is this not exactly what the teachings are saying; to help each other in charity? Does it matter where the human being lives?

Finally, I have it in written form in hand of how you FIGU people impute curious things on me, which are totally not true and how you FIGU people discredit me personally. But I am tired of this and it should not be my purpose in life to constantly explain myself, to back up or defend myself. I would rather use my energy for reasonable things and not for stupidity like this. As Christian Frehner accurately related to, I am NOT a FIGU member and therefore, I am NOT responsible to FIGU to give YOU any account that relates to my Private Life, because, it is not up to the FIGU to be totally in charge or in control of every human being. So Christian, it is impertinent of you to judge me and my meaning of friendship, Truth, and what my intentions are. You know shit about me and my past, how I am, what I was going through while I was growing up in the FIGU, which has never changed till today.

I Ask you now, is it your own experiences or did I treat you without respect or put you in a bad position? Or did you write the bullshit only from hearsay and judgments like others before (including my father)? I am able to tell all to the new members which meet the FIGU after 1985-1986. All you guys never would have been strong enough to survive at the very first beginning of the Center. You never would have been able to Rudimentary endure what I had to go through at 5, 8 or 12 years of age.

Sure, I know for myself that I have made mistakes, which surely were not holy. SO? All of you should to go back in your past. No single person would believe you, if you stated that you guys have never lied in your teenager years. And now a Question about this letter: Why is it so important for you to know what I write, that you are bothering A.C.C.? Why ask him again and again what I write in this Letter, when the Letter would be published and when I would fly back to Switzerland? Is my Father that afraid of this Letter that he orders you to pump information out of A.C.C.? Aha yes I see, this is so that my father could say after I published this Letter, "Oh yes, Ptah knows already about my Letter." So why then, did Ptah not inform my Father about the whole scenario?…… And are YOU, Christian, as so many people before you, not my Father's Tool?

Lovely Father, please stop with those kinds of seedy Games. I know also how to play this Game, finally. I had the best teacher for this, namely YOU lovely Father. You Guys should try to imagine how it feels if you have to watch with the eyes of a 5, 8 or 12 year old child, how your mother was massively beaten up. So, go and handle this in that age. I had to go through all of this shit and everyone who experiences this knows very well what I mean. Yes, lovely Father, think also very well, of what you have done to me. Not only that YOU were one of them, no, you also permitted others to mishandle my mother. Wow, how responsible from a Prophet who is preaching self-responsibility and responsibility for other human beings.

I do NOT defend my Mother. She has also made Big Mistakes. She left the FIGU because of her own false behavior and it was in her own responsibility, which I do not have to explain further because I wrote already another booklet about this. But that is no excuse for treating a human being like you guys did to my mother, AND all of this in front of the eyes of a young Child. Where is the Responsibility from such (adult) Persons in this?

YOU, and also others, have no idea for what else that I was blamed for and what I had only to accept, unchanged till today. The Following is only some of the vanishing little part of that story:

Fairy tale Part 1: A long time ago, someone had stolen out of Maria's closet 2000 Swiss Francs. Once more, I was blamed for this. Some of the FIGU members were sitting in the kitchen and so was I when we talked about this happening. BUT, I was the only one who said that we should call the Police to find the real delinquent. BUT, oh how funny, and what a coincidence that just after this scenario, Maria cleaned her closet completely so that there was no mark left and I was again the dumb ass.

Fairy tale Part 2: When I was 16 years old, I bought from Andreas a Bicycle, when I was working for apprenticeship as a car painter in Winterthur (it is a City 30 Minutes from the Center by car). That Bicycle was stolen by someone else at the Train station in Wila (a little town 10 minutes from the Center by car). According to my Father, 2 Weeks later, Madeleine said that she is 100% percent sure that she saw the Bicycle marked as secondhand at a Wal-Mart and she guessed that I sold it to the Wal-Mart. So after my apprenticeship I was working for exactly this Wal-Mart and discovered they NEVER buy used Bicycles. I ask you now, Christian, did my Father lie or did Madeleine lie?

Fairy tale Part 3: On a 2nd of August I was Playing with Bernard Erreich and his Sister (children of visitors from Germany that I was around at 7-8 years old) by the stockyard and abruptly, all of us saw some coins on the road in the grit of 10 centime, 20 centime, 50 centime 1 Swiss franc and 2 Swiss franc coins. So I picked them all up and told this to my Father. Oh wonder, he said it was money that I had stolen from someone. By whom that should have been, I do not know to this day. Oh how funny that it wasn't stolen by someone else, but still I do not know from who I would have stolen that money from.

Also, I was blamed for stealing items from different People like a Dictaphone, Photo camera, and so on, which later on was blamed on my mother. Happenings like this have happen endless times. Hmmm, I could easily also blame my Father for doing this by himself because he has, till today, all of the keys for every door lock in the hole Center on his Belt. So, he has access to every single room in the Center. Yes, I had stolen Money from my Mother's Table and do not hide this. I stand up for this. But, according to my Father, People often called him or, however, and appealed to my Father because of me and my behavior and once more, from hearsay. But if I demanded confrontations to the specific People, they were not available or they haven't time to come or other suspicious excuses of why a Confrontation is totally impossible. Where is the interest to find out the truth, which means that much to the FIGU, or to some of the Members, maybe not that much? Or is it the case that You FIGU people only will have a confrontation if there is a possibility that you are right? That sadly, also depends on my Father…..

All of these happenings were the reasons that I finally packed all my belongings and left on a Wednesday morning from the Center, from one Day to the other. Because already back then, I was sick and tired of all these Fairy tales and happenings with which I was constantly confronted. And also there were other Things, even if my Father never would stand up for them, which I understand because of his integrity. I was kicked by my Father in my as because of Y. or he yelled at me for no reason. Try to handle and to understand also this at only 10 years of age. Today, if I confront my Father with these stories, he honestly could tell me, "Well, I knew already back then that I did nothing." Then how could it be that he treated me like this? Is this not a contradiction in the contradiction?

Regarding truth, it has not been told for a long time to Y who his real Father is. This is a lie over decades. Who is covered in the karma/appointment? Question; How could a lie appear or be changed on a karma/appointment? Did my father ever talk about the Contact note regarding his successor, which said that my sister, Gilgamesha, my Brother, Atlantis, and myself should be the successors of him, which I read myself? And if my Father once more would accuse me of being a liar, as he did to the custodian at the children's home when we discussed the contact note with him, it would not be difficult to contact the custodian to be a witness. I was really in bad shape after I had seen that contact note. This shows me that karmas/appointments are formed as they are needed by the FIGU. Because, later on, the contact notes are changed so that Y should be after all the successor of my father.

After all this, another Person in the Core group, which I do not know if he knows the truth and if you guys have told him who his real father is. I will let you know that I know the name of his real father which is HARAZIM. If you guys have told him this, well I compliment you. My Father, himself, is preaching that the truth is hard and painful and now it is your turn to hear the truth.

Y. could stay 65 feet away from me and scream, as everyone knows and which also irritates my father, just to watch how I would be treated again. It didn't end until I came back after 3 years of being in a children's home when I was going to be 16 years old. I still do not blame Y. for this. I blame the persons that had the responsibility and my lovely Father knows very well which Persons I mean with this, including himself.

This whole Bullshit is hunting me today in my dreams, even though I thought that I already passed all of it. But because all of this is still going on till today, I could not finish with it. Exactly for this reason, I am in psychological therapy for some months, but not because I am ill. No, I only have traumas because of all the past happenings. It was also the advice from my psychologist to get some peace and distance from all this shit.

So I decided to fly to America for 2 Weeks. Otherwise, my Psychologist would commit me in to an institution/Clinic. My Father got that information also in written Form, and it was not a Faked letter, like he used to tell me before, when I gave him some proof of many things in my life. But he claimed this only when there was no witness around.

My bad health status started already more than 2 years ago, but my lovely Father cared a shit about this. His only response was that I was making it up and should not do those bad games. Oh yes, sorry. It is only for my Father and/or the FIGU members that are allowed to get through psychic or physical overload in a very bad health status. To Comment on my Fathers saying: It is not only one's own thinking that could drive a Person to be very sick. It could also be through Psychic terror (like some of you, including my Father, used to do) that starts it. This is a part that you should know after the studies of the teachings from my Father. Or is it still not going through onto your consciousness?

Also, negative Forces which are sent by you guys towards me consciously, or not, could be psychic terror and could hurt a human being very badly. Oh sorry again, you guys are that far in your evolution, that you are not able to have that kind of bad thoughts. I tell you only, that is BULLSHIT! You guys are still able to have bad thoughts, which some of you guys also still use. And these People should look closely at themselves in the mirror. And also I know that in FIGU, there are still People with much bigger Problems than I have. The only difference is that I try to work them out and this letter is one way for me to do that.

I have to repeat once more that I am not faultless and that I did my big mistakes. And I will do mistakes the whole rest of my life, because this is a part of Evolution. A Human being has to do Mistakes to have the opportunity to learn about the mistakes. But People have to allow Human beings the opportunity to learn because of the Mistakes and to correct them and not to abase and damage the Person.

The latest happening was with my own Brother who totally destroyed a car of a client. This happened only because I was very close to a nervous brake down and for this I was not reachable for a weekend and I could not repair his car as I promised him, which hurt me again as I was hurting already. Bad Luck for him that this car was from a client and this client started to sue him for his behavior. Till today (now is December 24, 2011 and my brother destroyed the car before I left Switzerland in September 2011) he was not adult enough to say, “I am sorry for what I have done and agree to pay for that car.” Today, he is judged for his behavior and he received an administrative fine of 1080 Swiss francs and I also thought a criminal would be kicked out of the FIGU Core group. This is a part of the Statutes of FIGU, but they are also being altered as they are needed for themselves. And this is a part that I am taking Personal.

If I would have done this, oh yeah, shit would have hit the fan. And not at last from my Father, because he would have yelled it out so loud that the whole country would have known what I had done. Like always before, there was no way to talk to my father privately because, if I had done a mistake, he right away was yelling it out in the kitchen of the FIGU-Center or also outside. And I would have to count on massive sanctions and also I would have to deal with bad degradations. Or is FIGU informed about my Brother’s behavior or not? As I said, still today, 24 December 2011, my brother has not stood up to his responsibility.

Wow, I have to say, this is very Adult and responsible behavior. As my father advised me, from a Person like my brother, I should take as an example? No thanks! I have always stood up for my shit. But my Father is defending my brother, which also is very responsible. He would have given me hell if I would have done this. So much for the theme that all people are treated the same way. What a joke after something like this. They really want me to feel nice and good and think everything is not that bad and, once more, I should forget all about it. Oh yes, sorry lovely Father, it was my own faulty thinking and action that destroyed the Car. And my Brother actually believes really that I have to stand up to 85% of my own cost for that Car. But fortunately, that client is far enough in his consciousness that he is not agree with that idea of my Brother. He says that I have enough other things to do, than to clean up my Brother's fault…….

Things like this always happen. Once, my lovely Brother did a note on a sheet of Paper which said, "Do not forget to cut apart Methusalem's Bicycle". Yes, yes, blah, blah, blah, you guys will say that it is in the past and a long time ago. BUT for your memories, the bullshit does not stop still today. How the fuck should I forget and work the shit out this way? And how would my Psyche and my consciousness deal with all of this and get to an END?

So, it is my own choice where I go on my Holidays and what I do in my Holidays. Now, I request that you stop telling fairy tales and spreading them all over the world, only so that you can think that you are right and to put yourself in a good and nice light. And stop spreading lies about me of things which I never said. And, how funny it is again. It is no secret, that I will leave Switzerland. But till now, I am not sure of where I would move. So, do not use this for imaginary reasons for whatever.

But this time, you were totally wrong. I have very much to do when I come home, even though my Father tried to spread the rumor that I would not fly back to Switzerland this time. Ah yes, lovely Father, please stop also agitating my girlfriend against me. She knows very well what my plans are.

And I know for sure that you tried to agitate her when you called her while I was in America. And I have still many responsibilities to fulfill.

There is only one thing that is no longer in my list of responsibilities, to help FIGU. What this means is that I will never again appear in the Center and you guys also do not need to appear at my home or in my Garage and also do not call me anymore. If you do call me anyway, I will let your number be blocked by my provider. If you need to talk to me, please do so only by letters because I want everything from your side in written Form. And also, this means that you guys further have to drive by yourselves to Germany to get the Books from the Printing Company. I really liked to get the books, but not in this Situation.

I know that you guys are thinking, who do I think I am? So, who the Hell do you guys think you are to over and over again bring down or put a person under pressure and destroy his Reputation? So far, I don't care because those who are trying to bring me down and discredit me and try to drag my name in mud, they have no spark of decency. And they try in their Megalomania everything possible to damage me with their lies. Oh yes, Ptaah says in one of the Contacts, that you Guys HAVE some in FIGU who have fallen for the Megalomania. Oh yes, it is not that bad, because they are a part of the Core-group and we have to forget about this and it is excusable.

In the last 30 Years, I tried everything and I hoped that this kind of Games would stop, which are founded by jealousy. I was, for the most of that, only quiet and I accepted all the bullshit. But it is enough now. I do not shut up my mouth any longer. For now, I do not name the Persons, even if I know more than only this, which I have already written. For example, SMOKING WEED. If you would follow the FIGU statutes, you would have to kick these Persons out of the CORE group. I won't. You only need to realize that I am not half that dumb like you think I am. I have eyes, ears and a brain for thinking and analyzing.

I would appreciate it if you, after reading this Letter, do not appear at my house or my garage to start any trouble. And also, do not start any missing reports to the Police, like my Father did shortly before I left Switzerland in September of 2011 even when he knew that I only needed some rest for a weekend. I mean, how sick is this? This was only because he could not accept that I really needed a break.

Now we get to the Point, which also you Guys have to accept, that it could not go any further like before. I can imagine that you Guys now are very angry with me. I hope you Guys can now imagine my anger that I had all this time. Now, a last note: I am really wondering what else is a lie that my Father has told. I do not believe him for half of what he was telling in the last few Years. A Prophet, who knows so much about everything, would never let things like this happen. That he would, in his wise foresight, psychologically hurt a young human being very badly. No, he is also playing that dirty Game, to keep me in the Position of a Liar, Cheater or anything else. You know, Lovely Father, I play Games like this for myself to gain some information, which you claimed that other People where telling a story, but which came from your own mind and mouth. So, the apple falls not that far from the tree!

And one thing that I surely do not need to do is to order others to talk or publish some things, just so that I am not staying in a bad light. I am Adult enough to do it by myself. Oh yes, and it would not surprise me if, when in the next time that a Contact would appear, Ptah will say that I am totally Brain ILL or somehow totally fucked up. I am also sick and tired of the Game: Ptah this, Semjase that, Quetzal others. God Damn it! Where was all this crap back then and the damned Telemeter disc which records all the shit? And how could they accept all your behavior when you guys treated me and my Mother this way? Or how would they just accept that I have to be blamed from the PROPHET over and over again? What the hell do you think about how dumb I am?

And if it is really the truth about Ptaah and all of his crap, I give a shit for deliveries through my Father. Ptaah could appear in front of my Face and tell me straight what he has to Say. Yes, Yes, I know that I cannot do this. But I know that they have a little Machine on their Belt which makes them able to get in touch. They and I would be safe through this machine because of their forces. If Ptaah would appear, I would have enough things to ask him directly. I do not any longer believe in my Fathers hearsay. There is too much suspected and in contradiction. Also, I know already that my Father would call me again a Liar and he will disclaim everything that I have noted here in this Letter. I really would give everything for all of these things to never have happened.

The only way that could bring my Father, the FIGU, and me together again is, that they stand up for their mistakes or at least apologize and repair my reputation. So now I have to find an end because I could write a several Volume long novel. If anyone would like to contact me this is my email address: methi77@bluewin.ch

Chapter 7. MISSION FAILURE

This chapter is devoted to describing the extent to witch Billy Meier has failed in his mission for the Pleiadians to act as a modern-day prophet. The specific aspects of Meier's failure to perform his mission are described in the following segments regarding lectures, publications, and spiritual teachings. Instead of actively pursuing these admirable goals, Mr. Meier remains secluded within his "Semjase Silver Star Center" in Switzerland and protected by the FIGU organization.

7.1 Lecturing

The following are excerpts from various contact notes which refer to what was expected of Billy Meier by Semjase and Ptaah from the Pleiades regarding the fulfillment of his mission on Earth. The complete transcripts of these notes may be obtained from subsection 3.1.2 “Meier’s Mission” of chapter 3.1 “Meier's Personal Qualities” in the free E-book “The Essence of the Notes” which is also available within this website.

Meier exhorted to begin his mission 03/21/75 9.213-260

Semjase says she knows that he has undertaken the task of distributing their contact reports and other things, but regrettably, this is not enough... Thus, it has become necessary for him to undertake new ways to diffuse the truth.

He asks what he is supposed to do when he is a stranger to the field and has no relationships with anyone. He has no idea about how to reach the public. Semjase assures him that all of those who are searching for the truth will not be blind and dumb. They will recognize the value of his information. She tells him to not worry that he is unknown in the field and that he should concern himself with obtaining good friends that want to help him in this matter. Such friends already wait for him. With their help, reach the newspapers, magazines, TV, and radio stations. They can also help to arrange for meetings, lectures, and public addresses. She says that he should do everything possible to enlighten humanity.

Meier says that she demands too much from him. He expresses concern about presenting himself to the world where he feels helpless against the intrigues of authorities and others. Although some people would listen to him, others often fear the truth and know how to suppress it by all wicked means. He admits to being afraid of this as well as of those who would ridicule him and accuse him of lying. In addition, he fears that newspapers, radios, and authorities will publish completely distorted and false information about him, which would not be beneficial to their mission.

Semjase informs Meier he is the prophet 03/26/75 10.266-270

Semjase says that he should assist in that process and spread the truth because he is the prophet of current times. Meier asks how that could be and how he could possibly do that. He expresses concern that it is too much to expect from him. When Semjase tells Meier that it is destined for him and that it has been prophesized in the Talmud, he is surprised and says that this is crazy. She says that nothing can change this destiny and Meier says that he must give this a lot of consideration. He does not know if he can accommodate himself to this. Semjase assures him that he will because it is his destiny.

Meier rebuked for not beginning his lessons 06/16/75 25.14-25

During this contact, Meier was reminded that he had promised to give lectures about enlightenment, beginning that month. Semjase says that he has done nothing to organize these lessons. Meier agrees that he has failed at this and says that he needs help. She tells him that he must overcome all obstacles and accomplish this task because some matters have become urgent. If he cannot get help from his group members, then he must do whatever is necessary himself because enlightenment has the highest priority. It is no longer sufficient that he spreads his knowledge with only his group and other interested circles because the time has come for the broad public to become informed... He states that sometimes he really wants to weep because he finds such things just too damned unreasonable. Several times he has thought about throwing it all away and taking up any daily work. Then, he will lose his financial sorrows and he will not have to be troubled with illogical questions.

Semjase informs Meier that he is not coerced 06/16/75 25.26-41

Semjase tells him that the performance of his mission is his decision. If he wants to retreat, this would be bad for his fellow humans. He is free to decide without any coercion from them. But, he should consider that it is up to him alone whether mankind is provided with a great advantage and is able to walk a better way, or not... As a human being, it is his duty to spread his knowledge and help his fellow human beings. She reminds him that he knew from the beginning that his mission would be difficult... Meier is cautioned to calmly consider everything very thoroughly before coming to a negative decision. He should think about the fact that mankind is in need of his help and that he is able to help more than any other human.

Meier is the first human chosen in 2000 years 06/16/75 25.42-47

He is the first prophet of current times and the most important person of his world for he is the basic way-preparer in these times. He is asked to endure the very difficult preparations for truth-announcers who will come after him. He should consider everything very thoroughly before coming to a decision that has only been raised in anger.

Ptaah explains to Meier about being a prophet 07/17/75 31.P32-86

When Ptaah says that he should not be so modest, Meier says that he does not understand why he is given all of the compliments and has been called a great prophet. He takes offense to such talk because he does not believe that it applies to him. He says that he only reports what others tell him and he is not a prophet. It is very strange for him to be considered as a great prophet, which he could never become. If he were to continue in this way, then others would inevitably accuse him of deceit, lies, and megalomania.

Meier is called a prophet because his messages are of a prophetic kind. That designation is very justified because it does not identify him as being mighty over others. That impression is wrong and unfortunately, widely believed on Earth. The heresy of considering a prophet as a powerful person was caused by fanatics, charlatans, deceivers, and religious leaders for the express purpose of tightening their own control on Earth. Meier is told to not be affected by these heresies, which evoke wrong imaginations and impressions, and that he must correct this.

Meier is told that a prophet of current times must operate differently than in the past and not simply walk ahead of others, speaking mighty words of truth. For the present and future, there are many technical means available. Earth humans have mastered their written languages, which increases the ability to spread prophetic messages. Meier thanks Ptaah for the clear and extensive explanation. He understands and agrees completely.

Asket speaks with Meier about his failures 07/17/75 31.317-326

A long time has passed for him and his group to prepare and appear before Earth's human beings. He cannot accomplish his mission with hollow discussions and disputes, for these bear no fruit. Their opinion that they should begin small is plain senseless and fruitless because it will never bring success.

The time has come for them to seize the initiative and appear in public. This is important along with the help of many further groups and communities. This publicity cannot be accomplished only by spoken words and letters to incite the meaning of their mission. They need a monthly newspaper that will explain many things to several people at one time...

Meier says that it is alright and he will correct his faults because he really wants to fulfill his mission. He also agrees to publish a monthly newspaper and sees the value in it. He says that he does not have the finances to do this, but he could print it himself if he had the necessary equipment. He also says that he is aware that all of his money will be gone within a few months if nothing else occurs. But, he does not know what else to do.

Meier prepared a lecture on Plejarens 09/16/75 35.P1084-1131

Still later, during the 31st contact, Ptaah reminds Meier that Semjase has advised him several times to present his lessons to the public. He has prepared a lecture, but has not used it. They have provided him with the ability to take photographs of Semjase's ship and their travels together. But, he has not received any publicity with his lectures in fulfillment of his mission. Ptaah tells him that this is unacceptable and irresponsible of him. He is now in possession of a lot of photographic material which he must now use. Meier is told that it is his mission to organize everything and make it known to the interested public by giving lectures. This mission is of great importance. He undertook this mission as a prophet quite consciously and willingly and the time has come for him to fulfill his mission.

Meier tells Ptaah that this is easy for him to say. He explains that in regards to material issues, he is an absolute idiot and unsuited for arranging lessons himself. As a result, he has asked Hans Jakob to arrange the lessons for him, but this has not appealed to him.

Meier not lecturing 10/20/75 36.41-100

Ptaah, Quetzal, and Semjase have all given him notice to give public lectures, but he has still not done so, which saddens them. This is very irresponsible of him after he had promised to do so. Semjase says that she does not understand why he does not keep his promise or even seem to care about it at all. She considers this to be an act of infamy. If he does not carry out his promise in the shortest possible time, she will have to interrupt contacts until he becomes conscious again of his task.

Semjase says that it has been decided that if he has not continued with his task by the end of next month, then all that has been done so far has been in vein. It appears that he has blocked his thoughts in order to deceive them. This still does not explain his lowly actions that Semjase would never have expected from him. She is very disappointed in him. Meier says that he regrets that very much and did not intend it to happen. Semjase says that this does not help them or his mission. So, he should deliberate very carefully and thoroughly. She says that he has until the end of next month and she will have no more contact with him until then so that he has time for reflection.

Meier says that her statements are justified. He has blocked his thoughts for privacy and does not know why he should make his thoughts known. He tells Semjase the she is nervous and disturbed because all is not clear to her. She asks why she should not be excited when there is danger of losing a good friend.

Meier's 1st lecture, April 21, 1976 in Munich 04/27/76 51.

Meier had finally given his first lecture, in Munich, by invitation of an interested group there. He ran into trouble when his statements from previous contact notes transmitted to him were challenged by the more scientific minds in the audience. For example, he was ridiculed over the 646 billion years age of the Earth when be mentioned that in a passing statement. But one has to wonder how smart we really are after all since our own "scientific" figures keep rising from generation to generation... Other points were also challenged, and Meier did not have full enough answers to back up his points.

7.2 Publications

This section is devoted to exploring the publications provided by Billy Meier as well as the lack of information that has not been made available to the world. This covers Contact Reports, the “Talmud Jmmanuel”, and the lack of publishing free E-books. Although Mr. Meier is fluent in other languages, including English, the vast majority of his work has only been made available in his native German language.

CONTACT REPORTS

As Semjase explained in her initial contact with Billy, she indicated that he would receive the thoughts of their conversations for each contact telepathically so that he could write down everything exactly, word for word. This was provided shortly after every contact and Billy became very adept at typing the Contact Reports with only his right arm at a very high rate of speed. These reports have been published in many volumes with the title of "Plejadisch-plejarische Kontaktgesprache". Unfortunately, these books are only available in the German language from FIGU.

However, many Contact Reports have been made officially available in the English language from FIGU-Landesgrueppe Canada. These include contacts 1 thru 4 as well as contacts 249, 251, 469-71, and 476. Unfortunately, there have been over 500 contacts which are only available in the German language. There are, however, excerpts from many FIGU Bulletins and Special Bulletins that have been translated into English. There are also many lecture transcripts and articles by Billy, and other people, that are available in English along with frequently asked questions, questions to Billy, and other articles. Unfortunately, this is only a small percentage of documents available in German only.

Fortunately, there are other sources for translated versions of many contact reports. The first versions were published by Lt. Col. Wendelle Stevens USAF (Retired) in four hardbound books. These books were published in 1988 through 1995 and were titled “Messages From The Pleiades”. Unfortunately, Mr. Stevens died and his books are currently out of print. But, they are now available on computer CD compact disks at: UFO Photo Archives, P.O. Box 17206, Tucson, AZ 85731, U.S.A.

Unfortunately, these translations are difficult to read, contain inaccuracies, and have many omissions. But, they represent the best translations into English that are available to date. Another problem is that the notes represent dialogues involving topics that are presented in no particular order at all and there is no index provided. It has been thirty years since the notes were first made public and only a few of the contact notes have ever been translated by FIGU and officially released to the public.

Based on the contact reports published by Wendelle Stevens, Maurice Osborn published a paperback and free E-book version of the reports titled “The Essence of the Notes”. The contact reports were reorganized in this book for easy access to specific topics. Each portion is generally presented in the same order that it appeared in the original notes. However, some portions are presented out of sequence in order to keep all related information together and maintain an easy-to-read format. This book is freely available via E-books and on the website: http://PleiadesMission.com. There is also another source for many translated Contact Reports at the website: www.futureofmankind.co.uk.

TALMUD JMMANUEL

In 1963, Billy Meier went with his older friend, an ex-Greek-Orthodox lay priest by the name of Isa Rashid, as they walked along a roadway just south of the Old City of Jerusalem. Through sub-conscious telepathic promptings, they explored inside a hidden cave and discovered, buried underneath a flat rock, a bundle which they took back with them to Rashid's abode. The bundle turned out to contain the true Testament of Emmanuel (also known as Jesus) in the form of rolls of written sheets. The rolls were written by Judas Ischarioth (Iscariot), who was a disciple of Emmanuel.

Rashid could read most of the old Aramaic writing due to his Palestinian background and began to translate the text into Meier’s native language of German. He soon discovered that it was very different from biblical text in several respects. As an example, its title referred to Emmanuel, which was spelled with the German letter “J” in order to supply the hard “E” English vowel sound of the Aramaic/Hebrew letter "Ayin", and not Jesus or Y'shua as in the Bible.

Unfortunately, before Rashid could complete the translation of all rolls, he had to flee with his family from Jerusalem to Lebanon where they stayed at a refugee camp. But the Israeli military located him there and attacked the camp, which resulted in many deaths. He was able to escape the massacre along with his family. But unfortunately all rolls were lost when the Jews destroyed the camp by fire.

In 1976 Meier learned that Rashid and his family were assassinated in Baghdad. Billy then began to prepare the translations for self-publication, under the title of “Talmud Jmmanuel”, and the German edition came out in 1978. A combined German-English version was published in 1992, and another edition, with improved English translation, was published in 1996 by Wild Flower Press. A further improved German-English translation came out in November of 2001, and another edition, further improved and augmented, was published in 2007 from its new publisher, Steelmark. Then, another version in only the German language was published in 2011.

Unfortunately, none of the Talmud Jmmanuel books are any longer available in the English language. We now have a situation where only people who understand the German language and have the money to pay for it, are able to have access to this extremely important information. However, since it is no longer being promoted on the FIGU website, it is doubtful that the general public would ever know about it or even understand how to purchase a copy.

Since it appears to be the intention of Billy Meier to withhold the Talmud Jmmanuel from the rest of the world unless he can profit from it, his greed and desire to withhold this precious gift from mankind, marks him as a very disgraceful, petty, and shameful person. The Pleiadians entrusted him to help make this text available to humanity, and he has failed miserably.

THE PUBLISHING OF FREE E-BOOKS

Many people have enquired why Billy Meier does not make the Talmud Jmmanuel and his many other books available to the world as free electronic books. It can certainly be understood for the need to charge money to purchase his published books since it costs money to produce them. However, there does not appear to be any reason why the Talmud Jmmanuel could not be provided as a free E-book when it costs nothing to post and takes very little time to post it.

When it was recently suggested that Meier present his contact notes as free E-books, his response was a referral to the 542nd and 543rd Contact reports of July and August, 2012. So, after examining those contact reports, some rather surprising claims were discovered. It was stated that the reason why electronic books and writings were not to be used is because they display only cold information that does not speak to personal inner feelings or create any deep connection to a person's intellect and rationality with any inner warmth.

It was also claimed that only physical books provide a personal relationship with its contents, which can be taken again and again into the hands and be re-read or studied with the same thoughts and feelings. However, electronic devices, books and writings remain cold, impersonal, and without any relationship or connection because the devices are only a piece of lifeless material, which is extinguished as soon as the device is turned off.

It was further explained that a physical book affects the human being as something tangible, which can be reached for at any time and, through renewed reading or thinking, it becomes internalized and understood once again. In no case, does an electronic device leave such a variety of lasting impressions. For this reason, electronic books are considered to be unsuitable for learning because they serve only as a source of information or entertainment, but otherwise can not be regarded as being of value with regards to learning.

However, it is even claimed that the reading of electronic books and the use of all other forms of electronic media such as the Internet, Facebook, iPad, computer games, etc. is extremely harmful. Namely, the reading of electronic data cannot be processed in good measure by the intellect with rationality and logic. As a result, this causes a gradual deterioration of the brain, increased body weight, uncontrollable aggressiveness and a gradual loss of intellect. If consciousness-based work is neglected, then people become unable to think for themselves or maintain logical, intellectual and rational consciousness-activity. This also results in a lack of ideas, motivation, and an interest in regard to a general physical fitness and knowledge-based interests.

Step by step, the well-being, endurance, and self-values of humanity will suffer as well as the abilities for personal choice, thoughts, feelings, and self-initiatives. Everything in this regard will be strongly affected to such an extent that even the feeling for others, the sense of law and order and for fairness and righteousness shall lapse into a bad form. Thus emerges anarchy, unconcerned feelings, a wanton contempt for life, a loss of knowledge, wisdom, and love, and an aggression against fellow human beings.

Does anyone really believe this? Are we unable to use electronic devices without losing ourselves in the process? It is strange that Mr. Meier would think in this manner when he himself, and the FIGU organization, uses computers and the Internet so extensively. This is actually a prime example of how he has been able to make people believe his own twisted concepts simply by stating that they come from aliens.

Another possibility for the opinions expressed in Contact Reports 542 and 543 is that Mr. Meier personally created this explanation in an attempt to discourage the use of E-books for himself so that he could continue to publish his work in books in order to receive royalties from them.

7.3 Spiritual Teachings

This is the most egregious aspect of Billy Meier's failure as a prophet for mankind. During Semjase's first meeting with Meier in 1975, she told him to bring the truth of Emmanuel's teachings into the light of the world and make them known. She said that this was a further part of his mission and that if this did not happen then mankind would slowly destroy itself and fall into complete spiritual darkness.

Semjase told Meier that it was his mission to diffuse and spread the translation of the Talmud Emmanuel scripture, because it is the only one which is the authentic truth. It is considered to be the most important book ever to be written. It is finally able to destroy, for many, the madness of religion or at least temper it very deliberately. It is an extraordinary piece of work that Meier ought to make accessible for humanity.

It is important to understand that the original 1978 version of the Talmud Jmmanuel is purported to be the most historically correct, except for its errors and omissions, while the 1992 and later versions contain some input that is akin to channeling, coming largely from extraterrestrials. While actual contacts with the Pleiadians were known to have supported the dissemination of the original scriptures, the continuation of any contacts after Contact 190 is found to be extremely doubtful.

Since the Talmud Jmmanuel is no longer being promoted and Billy Meier has done nothing himself to function as a prophet for the true teachings of Emmanuel, it is difficult to understand why the Pleiadians would continue to support him. Although Meier has posted comments and written some pamphlets and books about his own personal spiritual views, it becomes questionable why anyone should pay any attention to them when he has refused to personally prophesize for the true teachings of Emmanuel.

Chapter 8. BREAKDOWN

This chapter examines a breakdown in the character of Billy Meier and his writings. It includes information about what transpired in 1983 regarding Billy Meier's contacts with the Pleiadians, the change in content of all subsequent contact reports, a televised documentary that discredited Billy, and the conduct of Meier's representative in the United States.

A review of the contact reports in 1983 shows that on the 3rd of February, Quetzal told Meier that Elsa and others of his group were very destructive and that the fallible ones were to be sent to a desolate and uninhabited planet. The High Council advised that the Pleiadians were to leave the Earth for about three months while Taljda continued the contacts. Meier was told that Taljda was very strict and would not muck around for too long if any demands or arrangements were ignored or violated.

Taljda made contact with Meier on March 25th and informed him that everything would be handled and carried out as she considered it to be right. On May 7th, Quetzal noticed that Billy was depressed because he could only fulfill a third of his workload. Taljda stated that it was not his fault when others obstructed his work.

Quetzal told Billy that their contacts would last only until 1986 and that further contacts were to be established from the DAL universe by a female person named Silafa. Billy asked if this new contact could take place earlier in order to create a new beginning for everything and was told by Quetzal that he would strive to present these matters to the High Council.

On May 9th, Meier was told by Quetzal that a positive decision had been made. However, if further violations and abuses continued to occur, then they, as well as the new contact powers, would break off relations with him immediately and would never be taken up again. Quetzal then stated that they awaited the decision of the entire group and he departed.

On May 14th, Billy was told by Quetzal that Silafa needed more time for preparation. He reminded Meier that he must be committed to the mission with all strength and that he should never commit even a single offense against the adopted rules and regulations; otherwise, the contacts would be immediately terminated. Billy expressed that this would only be fair.

On June 1st, Quetzal told Billy that everything would take some more time because a lot of inconsistencies had been found that caused much concern. For this reason, it was necessary that on the next Saturday, all group members were to be present at the monthly meeting so that they could be closely monitored and analyzed by the new liaison powers. Already, there had been bad neglect again with respect to the meditation and this could no longer continue. Billy agreed.

On June 9th, Quetzal told Billy that the new contact-powers still needed a few more days to evaluate their recordings and that things did not look very good because the analyses of some group members have triggered horrors in the new contact-powers, and terrors still arise within them. Thus, it may very well be that the new contacts would not come about when the final decision is made around the coming weekend. Billy was told to prepare himself for the fact that a refusal might be the result. Billy asked Quetzal to tell the people that whatever their decision will be, he would accept it.

However, in Contact Report 190 of July 1st, Quetzal told Meier that he dealt with the powers from the DAL Universe and explained Meier's arguments to them. He stated that they were positively committed to his request and have worked everything out again. The new contacts would begin with Asket as the liaison person, who would arrive there the next week and visit him immediately. Meier was told that without his logical and far-reaching arguments, no more success would have been granted to their mission and it would have meant their discontinuance and the failure of the whole mission. Then, they thanked each other and departed ways.

Surprisingly, there was an explanation added to the end of this Contact Report. It was dated January 17, 2004 by Florena, more than ten years after the report. It provides important information about what was occurring in Meier's life during this time frame. It is important to understand that no contacts were reported for 7 months after this report even though there were 8 contacts in the previous 6 months of 1983. The following is an excerpt from that explanation:

"Through a large quantity of daily medication, many worries, much annoyance, as well as grief and nervous stress were alleviated, which contributed to the overall great improvement in his health. To be sure, a discontinuance of the many daily medicines was no longer possible. Through the improving of his health by the medicines and through the many things burdening him by certain querulous core group members, he could increasingly devote his attention to the real task of his mission."

A large quantity of daily medications to reduce many worries, much annoyance, as well as grief and nervous stress is only taken to treat a nervous breakdown. Medications, such as anti-anxiety and anti-depressants are used to address chemical imbalances in the brain. Although there does not appear to be an exact date of Billy's nervous condition, the explanation was attached to Contact Report 190, dated July 1st, 1983.

It would appear that the events of this time frame caused great stress in Mr. Meier's life. Naturally, if the Pleiadians were to have broken off all contact with Billy, it would have caused the FIGU organization to be disbanded, which would have ended all assistance and financial support. This could have provided the motivation for Billy to continue writing fictional contact reports in order to enable the FIGU organization to continue with further physical and financial support by its members. In any case, Pleiadian contacts were scheduled to end in 1986, but Mr. Meier continues to give the appearance that the contacts are still ongoing.

8.1 Contact Reports

One of the best sources for information regarding the contact reports that are written by Billy Meier is the FutureOfMankind.co.uk website. The webmaster, James T. Moore, has provided a wonderful service for English speaking people everywhere. At the home page, a click of the Contact Reports link causes a page to be displayed that provides a general description of Meier's reports. There are also links there, within the section of Contact Report Categories, which provide access to contact reports that occurred with Sfath, Asket, and the Pleiadians.

When the link for the Pleiadian/Plejaren Contact Reports is clicked, a web page displays two tables. One table lists all contact reports by the sequential number of each contact and the other table lists all reports by the date in which the contact occurred. Reports that have not yet been translated into English are shown in the color red and translated reports are shown in blue.

Any of the translated reports can be displayed simply by clicking either the report number or its date. If a link is selected for a report that has not yet been translated, then a page is displayed that explains that the selected report is not available in English. Nearly half of all reports, up to number 559 and dated March 19, 2011, are available in the English language.

The official website for the FIGU organization in Canada also provides translations for many of the contact reports that are also available on the FutureOfMankind.co.uk website. A review of the translated reports after the 1st of July, 1983 shows Meier speaking predominately with Quetzal and Ptaah on subjects that only appear to be of interest to Meier himself.

As shown in the section on THE PUBLISHING OF FREE E-BOOKS in chapter 7.2 titled Publications, the conversations within contacts 542 and 543 do not provide any semblance of intelligent or reasonable content. This is only one of many examples where the dialogue no longer corresponds to the intelligent and coherent conversations in contacts prior to the 1st of July, 1983.

8.2 Televised Documentary

In 1999, a documentary video titled, "The World's Greatest Hoaxes: Secrets Finally Revealed" was broadcast on FOX TV. The third segment was devoted to exposing the Billy Meier case. It began by showing some of Meier's films and photographs that he took of UFOs in Switzerland. Kal Korff, the author of "Spaceships of the Pleiades", stated that Billy admitted to building UFO models. He claims that Meier used small trees and models in false perspective in order to make believable pictures. A Hollywood cinematographer named Dean Cundey, agreed.

Billy Meier commented on camera saying, "Most people who attack me never came and met me in person or talked to me. They just invented their photographic tests or reworked the tests of other people who attacked me before. But, they never bothered to investigate my case in person." But, it was also stated that Meier's ex-wife Kalliope Meier also accused him of being a blatant hoaxer. She pointed to his film of a wedding cake UFO as being his most outrageous fake ever.

She said, "The truth is that my ex-husband is lying regarding the UFO affair. When I saw the UFO pictures that looked like a wedding cake, I asked myself, 'Where have I seen these lines before on the under part?' I realized that it was from a lid on a trash can." It was her opinion that her husband's skillful use of models and household utensils was not only manipulative, but downright dangerous. She warned that he used his faked UFO images to finance and promote a cult.

It was stated by the announcer that thousands of followers have flocked to Meier because they believed his message. Namely, that the end of the world is coming and that his films prove that he is the one chosen by aliens to help mankind survive. Meier's critics say that he has his cult completely under his control. Kalliope said, "Billy Meier is like a God to them."

Kal Korff then stated, "This is a man who claims to be the messiah. This is a man who tells you how to live your life and how many children you should have." The announcer said that, while there is no hard evidence, Meier's debunkers claim that Meier's cult could even turn apocalyptic like "Heaven's Gate". If so, his clever film hoaxes, which have attracted so many true believers, are not just innocent deceptions, but are a potentially destructive form of mass manipulation.

Korff said, "In Switzerland, we have already seen a couple of examples of what can happen inside of a cult that is tied to the UFO subject. The 'Solar Temple' for example, had members that killed themselves and were also murdered. And it is a fact that some of the members, that are now dead in the Solar Temple, were in and out of the Meier cult. And I am predicting that, if something is not done, Billy Meier may be the very next cult, within a few years, which may end up like the Solar Temple."

8.3 Public Representation

Another way to understand Billy Meier is by viewing the character of the people who support and represent him. The highest standing Core Group member of Billy's FIGU organization is Christian Frehner. He has stated that he met Billy Meier for the first time in 1982, became a FIGU Core Group member in 1987, and that he has witnessed day and night sightings of UFOs. This man provides support to Billy Meier in the form of interfacing with FIGU members, corresponding with other people and speaking publicly on behalf of Billy.

The outward demeanor of Christian Frehner is that of a person who is in control, very business-like and impersonal. This opinion is based upon numerous exchanges in correspondence and his personal appearance at the International UFO Congress conference in Laughlin, Arizona in February of 2006. This was a presentation titled 'The Meier Case Update' with Wendelle Stevens, Michael Horn, and Christian Frehner where he presented background information about the many ET persons with whom Billy Meier has had contact and he showed many photographs.

Michael Horn is the authorized American Media Representative for the Billy Meier Contacts. His website at www.theyfly.com provides evidence about the Meier case, which he has researched since 1979 and considers as absolute proof of its authenticity. He is also the writer, producer and narrator of a DVD documentary titled, "The Meier Contacts - The Key To Our Future Survival".

During his appearance at the International UFO Congress conference, along with Christian Frehner, Michael Horn presented an update on the latest prophecies and predictions in the Billy Meier UFO case along with information regarding photographic analysis that authenticated Meier's photos. He also provided photos and information regarding Meier's extensive travels and meetings with world leaders.

This presentation was typical of many other times when he appeared at other UFO conferences, was a guest on radio shows, and presented his views in various forums. His character is that of a person who has demonstrated the need to aggressively and vehemently defend the Meier case against his critics with name calling and accusations. Even when confronted with undeniable proof of falsehoods and unfulfilled prophesies by Meier, he appears to be unwilling to admit any faults.

As stated before regarding false prophesies in Chapter 5.5, Michael Horn had professed in 2006 that, since four heads of state had died in one month, this referred to Meier's prophesy and that it was a sign that a world war could break out in 2008. As a result, this needlessly caused great hardship and depression in many people who believed him. When a member of FIGU asked him why he would put out a press release with such a statement without confirming it with FIGU, Mr. Horn stated that, since he was not an employee of Meier or FIGU, he was free to publish his opinions whether they agree with Meier's or not.

This type of behavior by their representatives would be considered unacceptable in any other organization, but not by Billy Meier since Mr. Horn continues to represent FIGU. However, even more disturbing by what Michael Horn says, is what he does not say. Mr. Horn rarely, if ever, speaks about religion, spirituality, or the Talmud Jmmanuel. He has demonstrated a complete lack of understanding or interest in these matters or an ability to discuss these subjects.

The lack of anything relating to spiritual matters on his website or in his lectures tends to make one wonder why he was ever designated as the authorized American Media Representative for FIGU. However, this type of behavior by the people that Billy Meier has chosen to act on his behalf tells a lot about the man himself.

Chapter 9. CONCLUSIONS

My name is Maurice Osborn. I am providing my personal concluding remarks so that you may understand why I have been compelled to write this free E-book. I first learned about Billy Meier while watching a televised documentary video titled, “UFOs Are Real” in 1979. In this program, a retired U.S. Air Force officer by the name of Wendelle Stevens described Billy as having one of the most convincing UFO cases of all time. He stated, “He copied notes from the Pleiadians, wrote them down, over 2,000 pages worth. Here is a book of 600 pages that I have had translated into English so far and that represents only one fourth of the notes.”

Mr. Stevens also said, “We have no case on record where that volume of information has been delivered by extraterrestrial contacts to a contactee and the information in there is just staggering, just phenomenal. The information covers technical and scientific data, as best as they can explain it to us in terms of words that we use in our technology. It gets into spiritual problems, spiritual development of man and our relationship to deity. It describes other existences in space, other human beings living in other planetary environments. They are here because they are concerned about us, their younger brothers.

“Our technical potentials have exceeded our spiritual capability of handling the information and we are now in a position where we can destroy ourselves and we don’t have the spiritual development to prevent it. And because of this, we have become a laboratory experiment. They are waiting to see what we are going to do. As a matter of fact, they don’t see us solving the problem. They see us as an insane society rushing headlong into destruction. And only a change of mass mind on a mass scale can influence it. And they don’t see this happening. And that’s staggering because that’s us who are involved.”

Many years later, I was fortunate enough to meet Mr. Stevens at a UFO conference where I purchased the last hard bound copy that he had available of the third volume of his books, “Message From The Pleiades”. I was also able to purchase copies of the first two editions of his books on compact disks. However, the translations in those books were difficult to read, contained inaccuracies, and the content was conveyed in no particular order. But, they represented the best translations into English that were available at that time.

So, I created an easy-to-read summary of the messages and reorganized the content for easy access to specific topics. I also corresponded extensively with Christian Frehner at FIGU in order to insure the accuracy and correct mistakes. An extensive table of contents was provided for each topic as well as a reference list of the original notes, which indicated where to find the related information within the text. This work was then published by Outskirts Press in 2009 with the title of "The Essence of the Notes". It has also been converted into a free E-book by Smashwords, Inc.

As previously stated in section 7.2, regarding a suggestion for Meier to provide his contact notes as free E-books, his response was a referral to Contact Reports 542 and 543. These are reports of a conversation between Meier and Ptaah where it was claimed that the reading of electronic books and the use of all other forms of electronic media such as the Internet, Facebook, iPad, computer games, etc. is extremely harmful. Namely, the reading of electronic data cannot be processed in good measure by the intellect with rationality and logic. As a result, this causes a gradual deterioration of the brain, increased body weight, uncontrollable aggressiveness and a gradual loss of intellect.

As a result of this, Billy Meier refused to allow any of his Contact Reports, or any other of his books such as the "Talmud Jmmanuel", to be made available to humanity as free E-books. Thankfully, the website FutureOfMankind.co.uk by James Moore provides many of the contact reports and books in the English language. However, since Billy Meier has withdrawn the publication of all prior editions of the "Talmud Jmmanuel" with English Translations, I have been compelled to write the free E-book titled "Alien Spirituality", which provides an analysis of that text along with segments of the contact reports which refer to ancient history, religion and spirituality.

Since Billy Meier, as well as his core group members and representatives, are unwilling to fulfill the mission that was requested by the Pleiadians for the benefit of mankind, it now becomes necessary for my self, and other conscientious individuals, to fulfill this mission ourselves. As a result, this E-book, along with my other free E-books, videos and research, are being made available to humanity on my website: http://PleiadesMission.com. In addition, I am making myself available for lectures, interviews, and discussions anywhere that the Pleiadian Mission can be provided to the world. Other people are also being encouraged to help fulfill this mission for the betterment of all life on Earth.
